Trustees To Decide On KSU Gym

KENT, Ohio (AP) — The ball in the Kent State University gym controversy now goes into the court of the school's board of trustees which today has the option of sitting pat or knocking the ball back into play.

When the trustees convene at 5 p.m. today, they will know that the referee — Portage County Common Pleas Court Judge Joseph Kainrad — has ruled they have broken no rules so far in wanting the $6 million gym constructed near the site of the 1970 Kent State shootings.

Nonetheless, the trustees' opponents, the May 4th Coalition, has threatened to defy the judge's ruling by reoccupying the construction site if the trustees decide to proceed with the gym.

There's noise off the court and it is being made by the U.S. Department of Interior which decided on Monday to study the possibility of designating the site of the slayings, or part of the area, as a national historical landmark.

But the department said its decision probably won't come until March.

The trustee's quandary was underscored Monday by Kent State interim President Michael Schwartz. He said moving the gym would mean opening the project to bidders a second time and a redesign. He said both those costs and that of moving the utilities to a new site would be more than the university can afford.

Too Much Wheat Plagues Farmers

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Too much dry weather in the winter and too much rain in the spring brought predictions of doom for the winter wheat crop. But the harvest is almost complete in Kansas now — and the problem is too much wheat.

Elevators are full, prices are low and the wheat carryover nationally from previous years is estimated at more than 1 billion bushels.

The State Crop and Livestock Reporting Service earlier this month estimated Kansas wheat production at 381.3 million bushels, which would rank it close to the 1973 record harvest of 384.8 million bushels.

The wheat in surplus stocks and this year's production are said to be enough to furnish the United States with all the wheat it needs for five years even if no more wheat is grown.

U.S. wheat production this year has been estimated by the Agriculture Department at more than 2.04 billion bushels, five per cent less the 1976 record of about 2.15 billion bushels.

As of June 1, the nation's wheat reserve was more than 1.1 billion bushels, the most in 14 years.

Heroin Maintenance Program Pondered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State representatives were to vote today on a proposed experimental "heroin maintenance program" similar to more widely accepted rehabilitation efforts involving methadone.

The controversial bill, by veteran Rep. Edward J. Orlett, D-34 Dayton, calls for a modest approach — one program for a maximum 250 addicts in two counties yet to be selected, and then only on a four-year trial basis.

Bills such as Orlett's and many on less emotional issues are certain to emerge from committees this week as the lawmakers drive for summer adjournment starting Friday and ending Sept. 19.

Monday, the Senate Finance Committee recommended approval of a House measure that sets up offices of geriatric medicine at Ohio's state assisted medical schools.

State Regents Chancellor James A. Norton asked for approval of the legislation, by Rep. John A. Begala, D-62 Kent, under which the regents would

Amanda Blake Receives Honor

DODGE CITY, Kan. (AP) — Gunfighters and horseback riders traveled the streets of Dodge City again, but this time they mingled among the automobiles and tourists to welcome a "local" celebrity — Miss Kitty.

Amanda Blake, who played the legendary saloon owner of the long-running "Gunsmoke" television series, returned to Boot Hill on Monday via a Wells Fargo stage coach, accompanied by escorts on horseback. In a ceremony at the Long Branch Saloon, Miss Blake donated to the Boot Hill Museum one of the dresses she had worn on the show.

Link Welfare Cuts, Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sources say HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. is drafting a plan that would reduce welfare payments to tenants of federally subsidized housing, despite his public assurance this would not be considered for President Carter's welfare reform package.

A high government official told The Associated Press on Monday that the idea is one of three options the HEW secretary will send Carter this week for possible inclusion in the welfare reform package to be unveiled Aug. 4.

A lobbyist familiar with the subject also said two high administration officials had confirmed Califano's intentions.

The disclosure on July 14 that Califano was considering the welfare reduction for subsidized housing residents resulted in a storm of protest from home builders, civil rights groups, mayors, governors, labor groups and officials of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Califano was considering the alternative in an effort to meet cost limitations set by Carter for welfare reform and to remedy an inequity he saw.

But last Wednesday, Califano met with a group of mayors, governors and county officials who were at his office protesting that move and other parts of the welfare reform package. Califano said at the meeting and at a subsequent news conference he had given up the idea of counting the housing subsidies toward welfare payments.

He said the issue "will not be part of the welfare reform proposal," but would be discussed for possible inclusion in the fiscal 1979 budget.

Eileen Shanahan, assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare for public affairs, said Monday night that "some very complicated stuff involving housing and welfare is under consideration. The total doorknocker on this last Wednesday may not have been accurate. The impression left then was incorrect."

She refused to provide details of the proposal because "it is still being discussed and nothing has been finally decided."

A government source said HEW's three options were: a percentage reduction of welfare payments to residents of subsidized housing; application of a so-called "fiscal dividend" toward welfare rather than toward rent; or a combination of those options.

This accounting change is one of the steps now under consideration in the Carter administration's effort to make sense of the tangled way the government accounts for federal workers' pensions.

Taken together, the changes under consideration at the Defense Department and the Office of Management and Budget would make the rapidly rising costs of pensions more obvious in the budget. And they would, for the first time, make the true future costs of pensions visible by putting them into the federal spending plan.

"Our grandchildren are going to have to shoulder a pretty heavy burden," said one official of the pension costs. "We have to start writing down what our debts are."

Carter promised during his campaign to cut billions from the defense budget, a pledge he has not thus far fulfilled. By shifting current pension costs, Carter could, after a fashion, fulfill his promise.

However, if all the changes were enacted, the Pentagon budget would increase. Estimates of the increase range from $500 million to $4.2 billion, depending on economic conditions.

Administration sources say an initial decision on most of the changes is expected within a month by Defense Secretary Harold Brown for the fiscal 1979 budget.

No worker's current or future pension would be increased or decreased by these changes.

"These are really accounting and bookkeeping arrangements that have little direct effect on spending," said one source.

Firefighters Ignore Injunction

UNIVERSITY CITY, Mo. (AP) — Police equipped with riot gear are accompanying firemen from surrounding communities as they answer calls in this St. Louis suburb, where 43 striking firemen say they will ignore a court order to return to work.

St. Louis County police, ordered to protect the firemen as County Supervisor Gene McNary declared a state of emergency in University City, rode with trucks from five neighboring fire districts which responded to a small house fire Monday night. No one was home at the time of the blaze and damage was described as light.

Firefighters from other departments, which have mutual aid pacts with University City, said they were threatened by the local firemen Sunday when they attempted to cross picket lines set up around a burning plastic bottle factory.

The building was destroyed as the outside firemen refused to cross the lines. There were no injuries.

A St. Louis County court on Monday ordered the firefighters to end the strike, which began Friday, and halt interference with other fire departments.

But Richard T. Walker, the president of Local 398 of the International Association of Fire Fighters, said the order would be ignored.

"Justice prevails over legality," he said. "We think we're in the right in what we're doing."

University City firemen held a public meeting Monday night to explain their position. But they took a different kind of heat from the 150 persons who showed up, most of whom were angry over the strike.

A retired St. Louis fireman, who declined to give his name, accused the firefighters of betraying an oath of office. As for the factory, he said, "I'm glad it wasn't my business. I would have shot you guys."

The firemen went on strike after the city refused to grant a partial disability pension to a fireman injured in a crash involving a fire truck and a bus. The firefighter never recovered to the extent that he could return to line duty and was offered a dispatcher's job at a loss of pay, or an inspector's job at a higher rate. The fire union refused the offer.

Opponents argue that the reductions in tenants' welfare checks might be so large that they would be forced to move from subsidized housing to cheap, slum housing in order to have enough cash to live on.

Carter's order that the new system not cost any more than the old one. Califano also has said it is unfair for some welfare recipients to receive the benefit of housing subsidies while others do not.

A Congressional Budget Office report said such groups "may oppose transferring the ... appropriation from defense to income security because the switch makes military retirement appear to some as a form of welfare to which a social stigma may seem to be attached."

He said the issue "will not be part of the welfare reform proposal," but would be discussed for possible inclusion in the fiscal 1979 budget.

Eileen Shanahan, assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare for public affairs, said Monday night that "some very complicated stuff involving housing and welfare is under consideration. The total doorslam on this last Wednesday may not have been accurate. The

She refused to provide details of the proposal because "it is still being discussed and nothing has been finally decided."

A government source said HEW's three options were: a percentage reduction of welfare payments to residents of subsidized housing; application of a so-called "fiscal dividend" toward welfare rather than toward rent; or a combination of those options.

But the cut would not decrease overall federal spending by one single penny. The annual tab would be moved into the government's income security account, which includes Social Security, welfare, food stamps, unemployment insurance, civil service retirement and pensions paid by the Veterans Administration.

This accounting change is one of the steps now under consideration in the Carter administration's effort to make sense of the tangled way the government accounts for federal workers' pensions.

Those who favor the change say paying retirement checks for former military personnel is not related to maintaining national security and should not be paid from the defense budget. Pension costs have eaten up a

Rhodes Inks Generic Drug Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill that would enable pharmacists to substitute less expensive generic drugs for doctors' prescriptions was signed into law today by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Supporters of the measure, including sponsor Sen. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, say it will save consumers, particularly the elderly, millions of dollars on drug bills.

Rhodes also signed the Uniform Child Custody Act, a set of guidelines for jurisdictional struggles in child custody cases between different states' courts.

The generic drug law permits pharmacists to make substitutions only when generically equivalent drugs are available to replace a brand name product prescribed by a physician.

Doctors would still have the right to specify on a prescription "dispense as written," ruling out any substitution.

Backers of the bill said 60 per cent of drugs sold in Ohio were purchased by senior citizens.

The Child Custody Act, sponsored by Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, is intended to prevent "child snatches" by estranged parents who abduct children to other states in the hope of winning custody in a different court.

Federal kidnaping laws do not cover instances in which a parent abducts a child living with another parent.

The uniform law has already been adopted in a dozen other states.

Generally, it provides that the state in which the child has resided within the past six months, or where he or she has a substantial background will be the court of jurisdiction.

Pierced Ear Brings Love

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Mary Torrisi believes pierced earrings can lead to romance — or at least puppy love.

She didn't want to have the ears of her 3-month-old great dane cropped in the traditional short-pointed fashion. So she took Marmaduke to a jewelry store and had one of his ears pierced.

"Dobbie the dalmation, next door, just fell in love with her when he saw the silver earring. He just sat and stared, sort of mesmerized. Now he follows her all around," says Miss Torrisi, 17, who received Marmaduke, named after the comic-strip character, as a birthday present from her parents.

After okaying the idea with a veterinarian, she checked with an ear-piercer at a local jewelry store — who said all right as long as Marmaduke agreed.

"I have this thing about earrings," Miss Torrisi explained. "I've always liked them. And one day when I can afford it, Marmaduke and I will split a pair of good diamond earrings."

That's possible because Miss Torrisi wears three pierced earrings on her right ear and two on her left.

"I'll give Marmaduke one and I'll use the other for the third hole in my right ear," she said.

U.S. Marine On Trial For Murder

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The trial of a Marine accused of killing a comrade on guard duty at a secret Navy complex continued today after testimony Monday that the wounds could not have been self-inflicted.

The testimony came during the second day of the court martial of Pfc. Milton Randall Scott, 20, of Antioch, Tenn., who is charged with murdering Pvt. Timothy G. Scudder, 17, of Harrison, Ohio.

The parents of the defendant sat on one side of the Norfolk Naval Station court room and the parents of the victim sat on the opposite side Monday as a medical examiner testified.

Dr. W. F. Presswalla, a deputy chief state medical examiner, told the military judges, "The wounds together could not have been self-inflicted."

Scudder was shot five times, two bullets entering his chest and three striking his thigh.

Scott and Scudder were on guard duty Feb. 24 at the Norfolk Naval Air Station's advanced undersea weapons compound.

Testimony last Friday indicated that shortly after an alarm was sounded that night, Scott was found standing over Scudder's body, with Scudder's M14 rifle lying on the ground, pointing toward the body.

Scudder's rifle had been fired.

Pair Sought In Troy Bank Holdup

TROY, Ohio (AP) — An escapee from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., was sought by authorities today as a suspect in an armed bank robbery.

Police said two men entered a shopping center bank branch Monday with a sawed off 12-gauge shotgun, took an undetermined amount of money and fled.

Police and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents said the description of one of the men resembled Terry Gallagher, 29, formerly of Dayton and Troy. Gallagher was serving a 95-year sentence for armed bank robbery, bank robbery and conspiracy. He was one of five inmates who escaped from Leavenworth prison last Wednesday.

A green and white pickup truck, used in the Troy holdup, was recovered outside the city Monday. Authorities said it had been stolen near Leavenworth shortly after the five men escaped.

Gallagher convicted in 1975 in connection with 10 robberies in greater Dayton.

Bank officials said "quite a bit" of money was taken, but would not elaborate.

Troy police detective Jack Gheen said "there was plenty of money taken, but a lot more left."

Feds Halt Dispensing Of Phenformin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is immediately halting sales of phenformin, which is often prescribed for mild cases of diabetes, saying the drug is so dangerous that hundreds of users could die if it remains on the market for another year.

In an unprecedented action, HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. ordered a total ban on sales of phenformin, a drug he said is being used by 360,000 Americans.

Monday's action marked the first use of powers Congress granted to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare 15 years ago to allow the government to get a dangerous product off the market without following usual time-consuming administrative procedures.

Under normal administrative procedures, it would have taken a full year to get the drug off the market. But Califano, in his 66-page order, declared that phenformin constitutes "an imminent hazard to the public health." His order requires a total phaseout of the drug within 90 days.

He said that if he had followed routine procedure, hundreds of users of the drug would have died while the government held hearings and gathered testimony to back up the decision to withdraw the drug.

Califano's order came 10 weeks after Ralph Nader's Health Research Group asked for the ban.

Phenformin has been associated with a rare but deadly side effect known as lactic acidosis. Sales of phenformin had come under increasing regulation by the Food and Drug Administration in recent years, but the agency had permitted its continued use.

Guilty Pleas Entered In Mass Kidnaping

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Three young men who in a stunning and swift move pleaded guilty to the ransom kidnap of 26 Chowchilla school children and their bus driver will wage a legal battle together to avoid life in prison without parole, says a defense attorney.

"They are relieved to get it over with and they are still friends," said public defender Lester Gendron after his client, James Schoenfeld, 25, Schoenfeld's brother, Richard, 24, and Frederick N. Woods, 25, ended a year-long mystery Monday and withdrew their innocent pleas.

The three defendants, who come from wealthy families, pleaded guilty to 27 counts of kidnap for ransom, which carries a prison term of five years to life, but they retained their innocent pleas on five charges of kidnap with bodily harm.

If convicted on the second and more serious charges, they could be sentenced to life in prison without possibility of parole.

David Minier, district attorney in Madera County, where the abduction at gunpoint occurred, dropped 18 counts of armed robbery in exchange for the guilty pleas. The robbery counts involved personal trinkets taken from the youngsters.

"Justice has been served," Minier said, but he vowed to fight for a conviction on the bodily harm charges.

Bert Lance Controversy Defused

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sworn testimony from Budget Director Bert Lance and the "imminent" sale of 200,000 shares of stock in the Atlanta bank he once headed are defusing a threatened Senate investigation into the personal finances of the top Carter administration official.

One senator hearing Lance's explanations of various allegations Monday said it was clear that members of the Senate Governmental Operations Committee were ready to vote the budget director "the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval."

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who insisted last week the Lance respond in public to "serious" allegations of misconduct, said he believes the President's budget director was victimized by investigative reporters.

"You've been smeared from one end of the country to the other and in my feeling, unjustly," Ribicoff told Lance.

"There isn't anything that has developed that in any way impugns your character, your honesty or your ability," he said. "I believe the committee has done you a favor in allowing you to appear."

Lance's path was smoothed by the announcement Sunday night that the stock he owns in the National Bank of Georgia is likely to be sold soon, perhaps as early as Wednesday.

"We're going to use the body scratches, the cuts, the nose bleeding, the claustrophobic effects of being buried underground and the emotional harm those children suffered," he said.

The 26 children and their bus driver were abducted at gunpoint near Chowchilla, a dusty Central Valley farming community, on July 15, 1976. The children, ranging in age from 5 to 14, were herded into vans for a 95-mile ride north to Livermore, where they were imprisoned in a moving van buried in a rock quarry. They scratched their way to freedom 17 hours later.

Atom Plant Challenged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Edison Co.'s proposed $2.6 billion Erie nuclear power plant is facing challenges in state and federal hearings as to its necessity and safety.

The plant, if the Ohio Power Siting Commission and the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission approve, is to be built near Lake Erie in Berlin Heights, west of Lorain. Its two nuclear reactors are scheduled for operation in 1986 and 1988.

Two environmental groups, the Ohio attorney general's office and an economist plan to question, at Power Siting hearings in mid-September and the Nuclear Regulatory hearings yet to be scheduled, the need for the plant, its cost, safety and environmental impact.

The Coalition for Safe Electric Power, headed by Evelyn Stebbins of Rocky River, and the Toledo Coalition for Safe Energy, headed by Michael Ferner, plan to join forces in the state hearings. Mrs. Stebbins' group, which is opposing two other nuclear plants being built along Lake Erie, also has asked permission to intervene in the federal hearings.

Rhodes Inks Generic Drug Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill that would enable pharmacists to substitute less expensive generic drugs for doctors' prescriptions was signed into law today by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Supporters of the measure, including sponsor Sen. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, say it will save consumers, particularly the elderly, millions of dollars on drug bills.

Rhodes also signed the Uniform Child Custody Act, a set of guidelines for jurisdictional struggles in child custody cases between different states' courts.

The generic drug law permits pharmacists to make substitutions only when generically equivalent drugs are available to replace a brand name product prescribed by a physician.

Doctors would still have the right to specify on a prescription "dispense as written," ruling out any substitution.

Backers of the bill said 60 per cent of drugs sold in Ohio were purchased by senior citizens.

The Child Custody Act, sponsored by Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, is intended to prevent "child snatching" by estranged parents who abduct children to other states in the hope of winning custody in a different court.

Federal kidnapping laws do not cover instances in which a parent abducts a child living with another parent.

The uniform law has already been adopted in a dozen other states.

Generally, it provides that the state in which the child has resided within the past six months, or where he or she has a substantial background will be the court of jurisdiction.

Pierced Ear Brings Love

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Mary Torrisi believes pierced earrings can lead to romance — or at least puppy love.

She didn't want to have the ears of her 3-month-old great dane cropped in the traditional short-pointed fashion. So she took Marmaduke to a jewelry store and had one of his ears pierced.

"Dobbie the dalmation, next door, just fell in love with her when he saw the silver earring. He just sat and stared, sort of mesmerized. Now he follows her all around," says Miss Torrisi, 17, who received Marmaduke, named after the comic-strip character, as a birthday present from her parents.

After okaying the idea with a veterinarian, she checked with an ear-piercer at a local jewelry store — who said all right as long as Marmaduke agreed.

"I have this thing about earrings," Miss Torrisi explained. "I've always liked them. And one day when I can afford it, Marmaduke and I will split a pair of good diamond earrings."

That's possible because Miss Torrisi wears three pierced earrings on her right ear and two on her left.

"I'll give Marmaduke one and I'll use the other for the third hole in my right ear," she said.

Public Could Decide Ohio's Bottle Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Legislation designed to curb roadside litter by controlling beverage containers has withered annually in the Ohio General Assembly. But a move is afoot by pro bottle-bill forces to bypass the legislators and take the case directly to the public.

Bottle bill proponents say they will begin collecting signatures for petitions as early as August to force the General Assembly to consider requiring deposits on all soft drink and beer containers (cans included) and to ban pull-top cans.

The proposal would be identical to House Bill 33, this year's bottle bill, which has been languishing in the House Energy and Environment Committee. It is the only one of several antilitter bills which has been printed, usually a sign that some legislative committee plans to at least discuss it.

Specifically, HB 33 and the proposed petition would:

—Require a 10-cent deposit on all soft drink and beverage containers.

—Require a 5-cent deposit on all containers of standard design which could be reused by any bottler for any beverage, and

—Ban pull-top cans.

Rep. Virginia Aveni, D-17 Lyndhurst, the bill's main sponsor, said the proposal is intended to encourage recycling and to reduce the money and effort local governments put into roadside cleanups.

Prime mover of the petition effort is the Ohio Alliance for Returnables, an organization of about 300 persons and environmental organizations. David Sonner, spokesman for the group, said the alliance will canvas county fairs in late summer to collect the necessary 150,000 signatures.

The petition would force the General Assembly to take action on the bill in early 1978, or stand aside and allow voters to decide the issue.

Sonner expects the legislators will take no action. So, he is drawing up plans to collect an additional 150,000 signatures to place the proposal before voters in November 1978.

The alliance has received support from conservation groups and garden clubs, and he expects help from rural residents. In fact, the 67,000 member Ohio Farm Bureau Federation is polling county farm bureaus to see if they'll help circulate petitions.

Opposition to the effort is expected from an amalgam of labor, manufacturing and beverage bottling and distributing groups. These same groups have bottled up previous bills.

"It's not a law which would solve the litter problem, yet it would result in a major capital expenditure by the brewers and soft drink bottlers as well as the wholesalers," said David Julien of the Wholesale Beer Assn. of Ohio.

Julien said beer prices could increase as much as 50 cents per case if HB33 or similar proposals are enacted.

Views On Television

BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF. (AP) — The sunny patio of the Polo Lounge, where tanned stars and moguls do charisma exercises, seemed an odd place to discuss a musty tomb and the legend of a mummy's curse. But it's where England's Lord Carnarvon discussed reports that Egypt's late King Tutankhamen got angry at m'Lord's father for helping unseal the king's 3,000-year-old tomb in 1922.

Now, NBC has a Wednesday special, "Tut: The Boy King," about Tut, his treasures and the legend that he got so mad at Lord Carnarvon's father he caused the man's death shortly after the grand opening.

"Speak up because I'm rather deaf — you will be when you're 79," said m'Lord, a wonderfully irascible man, when asked about mysterious circumstances of his father's death.

"It wasn't mysterious. I'll tell you all about it."

He said his father, who financed archeologist Howard Carter's search for Tut's tomb, cut himself while shaving one morning in Egypt in mid-March 1923, well after the tomb-opening.

He dabbed iodine on the cut, had lunch with Carter, "and in the afternoon they go and fiddle about in the tomb," said the son, a retired British army colonel who isn't seen in NBC's show.

The father felt ill, was whisked back to Cairo, doctors were summoned and a diagnosis of blood poisoning rendered.

"Remember, in those days, there were no antibiotics, no penicillin, no anything, right?" he said. "So, at that stage, there was no great panic." But his father's condition worsened.

So, he said, his mother and the family doctor were rushed by rickety biplane from London and he was summoned from India, where he was serving with a cavalry unit, the 7th Hussars.

He immediately embarked by train for Bombay and boarded an ancient ship bound for England by way of Suez.

He said when he got to Cairo, his father "looked appalling, blood-shot eyes, pulse beating at his throat, unshaved and obviously in extremis."

Still, they managed a brief chat. Then he retired to bed. He said his father died at about five minutes before 2 a.m. that night, April 5, 1923. After which all the lights in Cairo mysteriously went out.

The next day, he said, Carter translated for him the claim of a leading Cairo newspaper: "King Tut was very cross indeed with the infidel called Carnarvon when he disturbed his mortal remains. And the king decreed he should be punished by being rendered ill and subsequently die."

"And so as to finally mark his displeasure, he caused all the lights in Cairo to go out at the moment of his (the lord's) death."

The old soldier said Cairo power experts couldn't explain the power failure. As for himself, he neither believes nor disbelieves King Tut was the kilowatt culprit. He just doesn't know.

Does he think Tut's ire killed his father?

"Of course I don't," he said.

A Page Of Opinion

Shallow Pruning

Apparently stung by being referred to as the "billion-dollar Congress," the Senate Appropriations Committee has been doing some pruning on the money bill sent to it by the House for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

One of the larger items deleted by the Senate panel was $55 million for extending the West front of the Capitol. That deletion, if upheld by a joint conference committee, should please critics who believe the last original wall of the historic building should be repaired and not covered by a major extension for new office space.

In addition, the Appropriations Committee voted to eliminate certain perquisites long held dear to members of the Senate. Beginning in October, the lawmakers will have to pay for their own haircuts and are expected to cut down on such freebies as combs, shaving mugs and hairbrushes.

Another reduction was the elimination of 34 elevator operators who push the buttons on automatic elevators. Those elevators reserved for the exclusive use of the senators will continue to have button pushers.

If these examples are the kind of fat which failed to pass budget review, perhaps the budget should be run through once again for a closer look. This is a time for serious pruning of tax spending, not merely tossing out a few of the more obvious wastes in slight deference to the people whose earnings pay for it all.

Bed Of Neuroses

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Psychiatrists seem to enjoy probing the psyches of the people. And whenever they do, they seem to find us wanting ... wanting psychiatric help.

Recently, for example, Dr. Leo Srole, a Columbia University psychiatric sociologist, told a convention of his fellows in Toronto that his studies have shown an increasing number of Americans to be sufficiently disturbed as to need therapy.

Dr. Srole had conducted a study 15 years ago, which he said indicated that fully 23 per cent of big-city residents were in need of psychiatric help. And now in 1977, he speculated, studies show that the populations of small cities and rural communities not only have caught up to the metropolitan areas in mental health problems—but have surpassed them by 20 per cent. He pointed to a nationwide testing of 6,700 so-called typical people living in the country or in cities of fewer than 50,000. The implication was that their neuroses may stem from the fact that they are too close to neighbors, and perhaps relatives — which could be just as disturbing apparently as being too distant and disinvolved, as in the metropolitan milieu.

The question is: Should we take the results of these studies, which would seem to be self-serving for the psychiatric profession, seriously? Should we add them to the long list of statistical assaults on our psyches that are possibly pushing us over the edge of what the psychiatrists see as "typical" into the realm of what they see as "abnormal"?

I say no. The heck with it.

There is a fine line between normal and abnormal thinking, and there is some evidence that it is better to be neurotic than to be non-neurotic.

In the same year, 1962, when Dr. Srole was conducting his surveys of large-city residents and finding that nearly one-fourth of them needed psychiatric adjustment, two other psychiatric studies were released.

Survey number one revealed that fully 85 per cent of the people living on the Upper East Side of New York City have neuroses. The Upper East Side of Manhattan is inhabited by the wealthiest segment of career people in the world.

The conclusion drawn from that study was that upward mobility, on the ladder of personal success, is accompanied by emotional, psychological and financial changes that inevitably lead to a certain amount of neurosis. It might be said (in fact, let's say it) that the neurosis, unless it gets intolerable, is worth it.

Survey number two, conducted by a group from the American Psychiatric Association, involved 73 "normal" men. The psychiatrists found that the so-called normal man lives a stable and well-adjusted life, has no serious marital problems, is fairly satisfied with his job and his home because he has no aspirations that lead to frustration—no aspirations significantly higher than the status quo, either for himself or for his family.

This group of men, who were described by one researcher as "contented bores," were given "mental-status" tests. They rated high in "contentment" and "compatibility with their wives." But they scored quite low on "richness of personality and breadth of interest."

They were generally peacefully entrenched in jobs that led to solid retirement benefits; they rarely moved away from their home areas, and finally and devastatingly, they found to possess a general "lack of creativity, imagination and spontaneity."

They had no dreams of glory. And no need for psychiatrists.

The neurotic, on the other hand, are more ambitious and creative, which naturally leads to more frustrations and excitement, more wealth, and possibly personal complications along the route upward, with as an occasional consequence — a need for psychiatric counsel.

"Normal" and "abnormal" are loaded words.

"Typical" is an adjective that has lost all meaning in a divergent society.

Dr. Srole's latest study is just another ponderable in a long list of surveys that the neurotic among us will find encouraging — noting that it could indicate more imagination, creativity and ambition in the grass roots of the nation; and that the rest of us will conclude, with a satisfied sigh, is just too bad — all those nuts out there, something really should be done about it ...

NEW YORK (AP) — The American tourist industry, which has been something of a little sister in the world travel picture, seems to be moving into its own.

While it may be years before the number of tourist dollars flowing out of this country is matched by money from foreign visitors, Commerce Department officials say the flow of U.S. tourist dollars abroad is far less lopsided than a decade ago.

"In recent years, this deficit — some call it the travel gap — has begun to shrink," said David L. Edgell, director of policy analysis in the Commerce Department's U.S. Travel Service.

"In 1976, it was 14 per cent less than in 1975, but still a substantial $2.65 billion," he said, in an article a recent Commerce Department publication, "Commerce America."

Edgell quotes agency predictions that, if recent trends continue, the United States will close the so-called "travel gap" by the end of the century.

There are a couple of reasons for his optimism.

The United States, which didn't even open a government office to coordinate a national tourist policy until 1961 — years after most European countries had aggressive programs — is seeing a gradual slowdown in the numbers of U.S. residents who vacation abroad.

Ten years ago, about 20.56 million U.S. citizens traveled in foreign countries; five years ago, it peaked at 23.8 million; last year, about 22.9 million Americans visited foreign countries. This year, government travel specialists predict about 23.5 million U.S. residents will travel in foreign countries.

By contrast, there has been a rapid growth in the numbers of visitors from other countries to the United States. The U.S. Travel Service said that in 1967, when more than 20 million Americans traveled abroad, only 9.96 million foreign visitors came to this country.

That number of visitors from abroad grew to 13.06 million by 1972 and reached 17.5 million for last year's bicentennial.

This year, the agency forecasts a 5 per cent increase to 18.4 million visitors. But officials say figures for the first five months show a jump of more than 8 per cent over a year ago may indicate the agency's estimate is too conservative.

add 902 u.s. becomes business

One major reason for the increase in foreign visitors is simply that the economies of other countries and the amount of leisure time available for travel is growing.

Then too, as the United States draws more visitors and gets publicity through such events as the bicentennial, a snowball effect can take place. Those who vacation here tend to influence their friends to do the same.

If world economic conditions remain stable, the U.S. Travel Service says it expects receipts from foreign travel, which were nearly $7 billion last year to reach $20 billion in current dollars by the year 2000.

Minutes May Prevent A Fire

By EMILY CALDWELL
Herald Staff Writer

August has not been proclaimed "Fire Safety Month" by any fire departments, but it should not take a special month to remind area residents of the possibilities of fires erupting in their homes.

With the current heat wave, only a small spark could ignite a building, causing hundreds of dollars damage to the contents and the building itself. Insurance will cover the loss of many items, but what about those articles with sentimental value? Memories can never be replaced. To avoid the grief that accompanies a fire, it would require only a few minutes some afternoon or evening to check for fire hazards on one's premises.

In the home, check for overloaded electric outlets, loose or worn wires, and clothing stored close to light bulbs, especially in closets. Any of these could start a fire.

Outside in the garage, look for bundles of newspapers and boxes, stored by those people who never discard anything if it could possibly be used in the future. These people usually live quite dangerously — risking their treasured articles by not discarding the petty items. Check to see that greasy rags are properly disposed of after finishing the work done on the car. Store cans of oil away from any items that could easily ignite.

It is not a safe practice to store a can of gasoline in a garage, because if a fire should start, it could easily burn out of control with the added fuel igniting. Even if there isn't room in a garage for that extra article, don't make room by hanging it from the light bulb. Find some other place to put it.

If you haven't checked your fire extinguisher in quite a while, be sure not to over estimate its life period. An out of date extinguisher might not function properly in an emergency situation, resulting in greater fire damage that could have been avoided. Don't stack junk or miscellaneous items on the fire extinguisher. Find another place to wrap stray wires, other than the extinguisher, which should be easily accessible at all times. Taking the time to check for fire hazards could prevent a minor fire from becoming a major disaster.

INACCESSIBLE — This fire extinguisher would not be easily accessible in the event of an emergency with articles stacked on, around and below it. Clear a path to the fire extinguisher. Minutes could make the difference in an emergency.

Woman Hurt In Accident

A rural Mt. Sterling woman was injured in a two-car accident 10:05 a.m. Monday on E. Main St.

Circleville Police Ptl. Howard Fletcher said Brenda Brown, 29, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, was treated at Berger Hospital for leg injuries she suffered in the crash.

Ms. Brown's car, which was driving east on E. Main St., was struck by a car driven by Ellen J. Addy, 25, 719 Court St.

Ms. Addy was pulling from an alley at 159 E. Main St. and told Ptl. Fletcher that she was unable to see the oncoming Brown car.

Ms. Addy was charged with failing to yield the right of way.

Jobless Benefits Cease For Many

WASHINGTON (AP) — A decline in the jobless rate of Americans eligible to get above-normal unemployment benefits is resulting in a cutoff of funds to recipients in 35 states and the District of Columbia.

The Labor Department said on Sunday that an estimated 218,000 jobless persons will lose the extra payments after July 23. The payments were in addition to the 26 weeks of regular unemployment compensation benefits paid to most people out of work.

Some 270,000 recipients in 13 states will not be affected, while 52,000 recipients in Illinois and Nevada remain eligible for up to 13 weeks in supplemental benefits under state laws.

OIL AND RAGS DON'T MIX — This small can of household oil is dangerously close to an old rag used to wipe one's hands after working on a car. A small spark could easily start a fire in this area of the garage.

TRASH — Storing empty boxes is a fire hazard anywhere. The corn husks hanging from a light wire may have a certain sentimental value, but should be stored in a better place. Discard all unwanted items. It would be cheaper to throw away something of little value and later have to replace it than having to replace items destroyed by fire.

Piketon Plant Deadline Faced

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP) — State and local officials face an 18-month deadline to prepare for the initial construction at the Piketon centrifuge uranium enrichment plant.

That goal was the topic of a planning session Monday where officials discussed river and airports, completion of the Appalachian Highway and intensive job training.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

High pressure moving toward Ohio from central Canada brought fair, cool and dry air to the state overnight.

Lows generally were in the 50s and at 6 a.m., Toledo had tied its previous low record for the date with a reading of 51, matching the mark set in 1946.

The high pressure will move across Ohio tonight and the fair weather will continue for another 24 to 48 hours.

Temperatures today and Wednesday will climb to the 70s in the afternoons. Light winds and clear skies tonight will let temperatures fall into the upper 40s north to the upper 50s south.

The session, called by Gov. James A. Rhodes, brought more than 150 area officials and residents and about 30 department heads to this Pike County community in Southern Ohio.

Rhodes, David Weir, director of the Ohio Department of Transportation; and Rep. Vernal G. Riffe, Jr., D-89 New Boston, speaker of the Ohio House, all said completion of the federal Appalachian Highway was an important goal associated with construction of the massive $4.1 billion atomic fuel plant.

Another priority will be training potential workers for the plant. The centrifuge plant will have an expected peak employment level of more than 4,000 construction workers. Permanent jobs once the facility is in operation by the mid-1980s are expected to number 2,200 to 2,400.

"We fought for those jobs," said Robert Walton, chairman of the Ohio Valley Regional Development Commission (OVRDC), a five-county impact committee. "We've got to start training people for those jobs."

"They're not ERDA jobs, they're not Goodyear jobs, they're our jobs," Walton said.

Rhodes said a major goal of Monday's meeting was to be the coordination of the state departments with the various local planning committees. The governor made appointments to the committees from the audience and divided the group for planning sessions.

State officials attending the session included were Ned Williams, director of the Environmental Protection Agency; James Duerk, director of the Department of Economic and Community Development; Robert W. Teater, director of the Department of Natural Resources; Dr. John H. Ackerman, director of the Department of Health; and Albert Giles, director of the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services.

Local participants included representatives of Pike and Scioto counties, as well as police, health and planning agencies.

Rhodes added a committee group to study the possibility of a river port at Portsmouth and an expanded airport facility for the Piketon area.

Load management: A whole new approach to helping you save

"Load management" — a new term but very important for wise use of energy... with savings for you.

As the summer sun blazes in Columbus and southern Ohio, electric use zooms. For several years the total demand for electricity has been higher in summer than winter.

To meet these summer needs we've had to construct additional facilities requiring enormous amounts of money.

A better balance between summer and winter demand would benefit both you and us.

We're taking several steps to utilize our present facilities with maximum efficiency. We're also undertaking several projects to assist you in analyzing and planning your electric energy use. We call this "load management."

For one thing, we're proposing to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio a series of new rate structures. One is the "small use" or "load management" rate. It is designed for residential consumers who generally use less than 600 kilowatt hours a month, and who do not place a heavy summer demand on company facilities. These customers would pay a lower rate than other residential consumers.

We estimate this new rate would benefit 60 percent of our customers, without penalizing the others. Other types of "load management" rates are also being proposed for larger users.

In addition, we're completing a series of new consumer publications designed to help you use energy more efficiently. They range from weatherization and insulation tips to guides on caulking, storm windows and electric heat pumps.

Contact your local Columbus and Southern office for copies. And continue to call on us for personalized information and advice on making the most efficient use of your electric service.

News Of Interest To Women

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Ballet Lessons Good For Boys

DEAR READERS: A woman signed BUDDY'S MOTHER wrote to say that her 10-year-old son who had taken ice skating lessons for two years had asked to take ballet lessons.

She said that she and her husband feared that if they let him take up ballet he might turn into a homosexual.

I told her that it took a great deal of manly discipline for a boy to excel at ballet, and to go ahead and give the boy ballet lessons.

The reader feedback was interesting. Some samples:

DEAR ABBY: I'll bet BUDDY'S MOTHER lives in Dade County, Fla., where they recently voted to deny homosexuals their constitutional rights because of Anita Bryant's crusade to "Save Our Children." I'd appreciate your comment.

STRAIGHT AND CONCERNED
DEAR S AND C: No straight boy ever became gay because he took ballet lessons. Neither did a gay become straight because he joined the Marine Corps. No one knows what causes some people to be gay and others to be straight. But it's a fact that "our children" do not need to be "saved" from homosexuals. (More children are molested by straights than by gays.)

To use "God," "the American flag" and the emotionally charged cry to "Save Our Children" in an effort to deny employment, housing and public accommodations to a whole segment of our population because of their personal sexual preference is outrageous!

DEAR ABBY: I was shocked when I read the letter in your column from the mother who was reluctant to allow her son to take ballet lessons because it might encourage him to become a homosexual. How ignorant can some people be?

I have three sons. The two older boys excelled in football, but the younger boy favored ice skating and ballet. I made sure the two older boys did not ridicule their younger brother because of his interest in ballet.

As for ballet being for sissies, I'd like to see a sissy lift a 130-pound ballerina with one hand and hold her over his head. And all those strenuous leaps, turns and jumps take muscle control, coordination and strength the finest athlete would envy.

Ballet does more for a boy's body than football. I'd rather see my son dance than see him carried off a football field on a stretcher with a broken nose or a broken leg!

POMONA MOM

DEAR ABBY: Would you believe that before my son became a Golden Glove boxing champion he was advised to take ballet lessons to improve his footwork? He took them, too. And when he was kidded about it, he laughed harder than anybody because he knew that he was as much a man as the manliest.

CHAMP'S MOTHER

DEAR ABBY: BUDDY'S MOTHER should realize how much masculinity and discipline goes into becoming a professional ballet dancer. He must be as fit as an Olympic champion and possess the grace and rhythm of an artist. I think that any boy who is fortunate enough to show signs of talent in the dance should be encouraged in it and not made to feel guilty or lacking in manhood.

Now Hear This! Senator Not Vegetarian

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you yearn to see Sen. John Melcher devour a thick, juicy steak, now's a good time to arrange it.

The Montana Democrat is trying feverishly to correct an erroneous report that he's a vegetarian.

"I'm actually one of the best markets around for beef, pork, lamb, poultry, fish and other seafoods," says the senator.

Melcher's problem stems from a report in a monthly magazine published in the nation's capital that identified him as the only vegetarian in Congress. In fact, he's the only veterinarian.

Montana ranchers raise a lot of beef and were a little upset when word filtered back from Washington that the man they'd elected to the Senate last November didn't eat meat.

"Constituents are getting calls from out-of-state friends and relatives inquiring about my eating habits," said the harassed senator. "I started the morning with a call from a rancher in Belt, Mont., who had received a call from his daughter in Los Angeles."

Of course, like any good politician, Melcher doesn't want to alienate the vegetarian vote.

"I have nothing against vegetarians," he says. "I have sympathy for them because they are missing a lot of good protein and a lot of good eating."

And if you decide to show up at Melcher's office with a steak, he likes them rare.

Few members of Congress can resist waxing eloquent when comparing the quality of life in their home state with any other place on earth.

During a recent debate on a treaty to permit U.S. citizens convicted of crimes in Mexico to serve their terms in U.S. jails, Sen. John Tower had a few good words for the prisons in Texas.

"I have never spent any time in a Mexican jail myself," said Tower, "but I have friends who have, and they tell me they did not exactly relish the experience."

A few of the senator's friends have spent time in both Mexican and Texas jails and, he said, "they find the Texas jails far superior in terms of the cuisine, the quarters and all of the other accommodations that go along with it."

When senators resort to a filibuster in an effort to block action on a bill, they prefer to say they are engaged in extended debate or in an educational process. No one likes to admit they are filibustering. It's not considered a nice thing to do, even when you're doing it.

The Senate now is engaged in extended debate on a bill to extend public financing to senatorial campaigns.

Looking ahead to the battle of words, Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, who favors cutting off debate on the bill, offered a new euphemism for a filibuster. It took the form of a prediction that the weather in the Senate chamber would consist of "variable winds ranging from mild to gusty with considerable fog."

When Congress debates changes in the tax laws, the rhetoric can get as confusing as a tax form.

For people looking for a simple guide to who's saying what about taxes, try these definitions Professor Gerard M. Brannon of Georgetown University offered to the Senate Finance Committee:

"The politics of taxation in the U.S. has been a war between the redistributors and the growth people.

"Redistributors think America will go to hell in a limousine unless we do things to stop the rich from getting richer while the poor get poorer.

"Growth people think that America will go to hell on foot unless we do things to increase the reward for thrift and initiative."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Ballet Lessons Good For Boys

DEAR READERS: A woman signed BUDDY'S MOTHER wrote to say that her 10-year-old son who had taken ice skating lessons for two years had asked to take ballet lessons. She said that she and her husband feared that if they let him take up ballet he might turn into a homosexual.

I told her that it took a great deal of manly discipline for a boy to excel at ballet, and to go ahead and give the boy ballet lessons.

The reader feedback was interesting. Some samples: DEAR ABBY: I'll bet BUDDY'S MOTHER lives in Dade County, Fla., where they recently voted to deny homosexuals their constitutional rights because of Anita Bryant's crusade to "Save Our Children." I'd appreciate your comment.

STRAIGHT AND CONCERNED DEAR S AND C: No straight boy ever became gay because he took ballet lessons. Neither did a gay become straight because he joined the Marine Corps. No one knows what causes some people to be gay and others to be straight. But it's a fact that "our children" do not need to be "saved" from homosexuals. (More children are molested by straights than by gays.)

To use "God," "the American flag" and the emotionally charged cry to "Save Our Children" in an effort to deny employment, housing and public accommodations to a whole segment of our population because of their

Audience members will find this particular production somewhat varied from the Broadway version, according to Marion Waggoner, "Godspell's" director and General Manager for "Tecumseh!"

"We are attempting to create a very contemporary atmosphere in depicting the Gospel of St. Matthew," Waggoner said. "In many interpretations of the show, directors find it necessary to create an atmosphere of common understanding with the audience; in some cases the show is presented from a children's point of view, with a set comprised of playground equipment. In this manner the audience is able to identify with what is happening on stage by virtue of their past experiences," he said.

"Our interpretation," he continued, "is best described as 'here and now'."

"All elements of the production are presented for the audience's enjoyment at that time," said Waggoner.

"If I had to use one word to describe our production of 'Godspell,' that word would be Celebration!" he said.

"The show is by no means a vehicle to exploit man's religion," Waggoner said, "but rather to heighten man's understanding of himself and his God."

"Godspell" will be presented on Aug. 8, 15, and 22 at 9 p.m. No reservations are required. For further information, write the Scioto Society, Inc. P. O. Box 73 (G), Chillicothe, Ohio 45601 or call (614) 775-4100.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"My father scarred me for life." So said a young woman when she filed a lawsuit against her father for damages. She charged that by refusing to marry her mother he had caused her to be born illegitimately and to go through life in a disgrace.

But the court ruled against her. Allowing this type of claim, said the court, would open the floodgates to countless lawsuits by disgruntled children.

"One might seek damages for being born of a certain race, another for inheriting unfortunate family characteristics; one for being born into a large and destitute family, another because a parent had an unsavory reputation."

Courts have generally rejected these "wrongful birth" suits brought by children against their parents. As a rule they have also frowned on such claims when brought against a third party.

Two children sued a doctor for performing an unsuccessful vasectomy on their father. Their unexpected baby sister, they said, had reduced their share of 1) his estate, and 2) his affections.

But again the court turned thumbs down. Regarding the father's estate, the court said children have no fixed right to a particular share anyhow. Regarding the father's affections, the court said they had no legal right to that either.

"The law cannot require a parent to love a child," said the judge. "It forbids abuse but it does not compel devotion."

Occasionally, however, a third party may be held liable to the parent if not to the child. Thus, one court said a mother could hold her doctor liable if he neglected to warn her of the danger of a defective birth. At least, said the court, she could collect the extra expenses arising out of the child's impaired condition.

Henry Wynberg Given Sentence

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Henry Wynberg, a car salesman who is more widely known as the one-time escort of actress Elizabeth Taylor, has been sentenced to 90 days in jail.

The jail sentence stems from Wynberg's pleading no contest on June 27 to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor in connection with a sex case involving high school girls.

Wynberg also was ordered Monday by Municipal Court Judge Jacqueline Weiss to pay a $1,000 fine. He was placed on five years' probation.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Harvey Giss said Wynberg, 43, had been charged with 10 counts involving furnishing drugs and alcohol to high school coeds and having sexual relations with them.

Wynberg was taken to county jail to begin serving his sentence.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"My father scarred me for life."

So said a young woman when she filed a lawsuit against her father for damages. She charged that by refusing to marry her mother he had caused her to be born illegitimately and to go through life in a disgrace.

But the court ruled against her. Allowing this type of claim, said the court, would open the floodgates to countless lawsuits by disgruntled children.

"One might seek damages for being born of a certain race, another for inheriting unfortunate family characteristics; one for being born into a large and destitute family, another because a parent had an unsavory reputation."

Courts have generally rejected these "wrongful birth" suits brought by children against their parents. As a rule they have also frowned on such claims when brought against a third party.

Two children sued a doctor for performing an unsuccessful vasectomy on their father. Their unexpected baby sister, they said, had reduced their share of 1) his estate, and 2) his affections.

But again the court turned thumbs down. Regarding the father's estate, the court said children have no fixed right to a particular share anyhow. Regarding the father's affections, the court said they had no legal right to that either.

"The law cannot require a parent to love a child," said the judge. "It forbids abuse but it does not compel devotion."

Occasionally, however, a third party may be held liable to the parent if not to the child. Thus, one court said a mother could hold her doctor liable if he neglected to warn her of the danger of a defective birth. At least, said the court, she could collect the extra expenses arising out of the child's impaired condition.

Henry Wynberg Given Sentence

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Henry Wynberg, a car salesman who is more widely known as the one-time escort of actress Elizabeth Taylor, has been sentenced to 90 days in jail.

The jail sentence stems from Wynberg's pleading no contest on June 27 to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor in connection with a sex case involving high school girls.

Wynberg also was ordered Monday by Municipal Court Judge Jacqueline Weiss to pay a $1,000 fine. He was placed on five years' probation.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Harvey Giss said Wynberg, 43, had been charged with 10 counts involving furnishing drugs and alcohol to high school coeds and having sexual relations with them.

Wynberg was taken to county jail to begin serving his sentence.

9 Field Work Conditions Excellent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Here is the agricultural weather forecast for Ohio provided by the National Weather Service.

A cool Canadian high pressure area centered over Minnesota today will move into Ohio by Wednesday morning, providing cool weather for agriculture through Wednesday. Some warm up can be expected Thursday and a chance for showers Friday as fronts return.

FIELD OPERATIONS — Rain fell over much of Ohio Monday, but excellent drying today through Thursday will permit most all soil working activity. The plow layer in much of the state is still probably a little too dry to permit efficient plowing of oat and wheat stubble. Moisture consumption the next several days will be around 0.20 to 0.25 hundredths of an inch.

HAYING AND HARVESTING OUTLOOK — Breezy northerly winds will quickly dry straw and grain of oats remaining to be combined. Ideal combine conditions are likely this afternoon through Thursday. Afternoon humidity should generally be in the 40s and fairly rapid dissipation of moderate morning dew. Hay cut today or already down will have a good chance to be cured and harvested through Thursday. There is some risk of wetting Friday.

Cooler weather will slow the rapid pace of tobacco growth. This should permit a little more time to get the sucker control operation complete and also topping. Some of those barns will soon need to be readied for the earlier fields.

Korean Pullout Talks Ended

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Defense Secretary Harold Brown today ended talks with South Korean officials on the U.S. troop withdrawal plan, pledging continued military support and reassuring Seoul that the United States will not negotiate with North Korea behind its back.

A communique issued at the conclusion of two days of talks said the two sides had agreed on formation of a combined military command. It also described in general terms the planned phased pullout of 33,000 U.S. ground troops, and said the Carter administration would ask Congress to approve a new military aid program for South Korea.

Brown and his 11-member delegation then left for Tokyo to brief Japanese officials on the talks.

The communique said Brown and South Korean Defense Minister Suh Jyong-chul noted that Communist North Korea has strengthened itself militarily in recent years and that "the North Korean threat remains serious."

"It is essential to maintain and strengthen the defense capabilities of the Republic of Korea, at a state of readiness sufficient to deter a renewal of hostilities on the Korea peninsula," the communique said.

It then went on to list, without specifying the cost, the elements of the proposed military aid program — the transfer of U.S. military equipment, an increase in military sales credits for Seoul and continued support for "general Korean force improvement."

A senior American official has said the aid program will amount to $1.9 billion over four years. The U.S. withdrawal, a pullout of virtually all American ground troops, is expected to take four or five years.

The communique also said Brown reaffirmed that the United States "would not enter any negotiations on the future of Korea with North Korea without the participation of the Republic of Korea."

This was an apparent effort to ease South Korean fears that the United States, as it did in the case of China and Taiwan, might suddenly open a bilateral dialogue with North Korea, bypassing Seoul.

The communique said the first group of 6,000 U.S. soldiers will be withdrawn by the end of 1978, and the remaining troops will be "carefully" phased out after that.

The headquarters and two brigades of the 2nd Infantry Division, the principal Army unit here, will remain in Korea until the final phase of the withdrawal, it said.

The communique said both sides agreed that "compensatory measures will be implemented in advance or in parallel with the withdrawals." Brown's talks with Suh and South Korean President Park Chung-hee were marked by repeated reassurances — including one in a letter from President Carter to Park — that the United States would honor its treaty commitment to defend South Korea.

"So long as an American security commitment exists, no one should have any doubt about our intention of honoring it," Brown said at a news conference before departing for Tokyo.

Scioto Valley Schools Ponder Money Woes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Scioto Valley Local School District officials were undecided Monday whether to take Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's advice and delay the opening of school this fall.

The decision to keep the Pike County district of 1,500 students closed until Oct. 21 because of its financial plight will depend on two things, Max Way, assistant superintendent, said. One is advice from the state superintendent of school's office; the other a bill now pending in the legislature which would allow a third attempt at an emergency tax levy.

"We hope for a recommendation this week from state board," Way said. "There is no doubt we are experiencing serious financial difficulties. And there are other problems. The first first full week of October is when you make the official membership count (which determines state aid). This is a real concern for us. We have not adopted a calendar because we anticipated this."

A check of the district's books by Ferguson's office showed a $184,000 deficit as of June 30. If no action is taken, the deficit will be $260,000 by the end of the year, he said.

State law forbids a school district to end the year with a deficit. Ferguson figures if Scioto Valley cuts spending to essentials and delays opening until Oct. 21, it can eliminate the deficit.

Way said the district estimates it will have to cut 40 days out of the school calendar as things stand now, or 50-55 days if the board is required to pay its teachers unemployment compensation during that time.

In the meantime, the district also is watching a bill in the legislature which would allow it to try a third time this year to pass an emergency operating levy, Way said. The district saw levies attempts defeated in January and May. If the bill passes, it probably will seek a levy of about eight mills in early September, he said.

Fifteen other school districts have asked the auditor's office for a financial analysis, and at least two dozen more are anticipated, Ferguson said.

Some American Indian "medicine wheels," such as one in Wyoming's Bighorn Mountains that is formed of stones placed in the shape of a 28-spoked wheel, were used as primitive astronomical instruments, researchers believe.

Chillicothe Probe Brings Harassment

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Evelyn Marshall, a registered nurse at the Veterans Administration Hospital here, has asked for a medical leave of absence. She says her job makes her sick.

The 35-year-old Columbus mother of two has been the target of a threatening anonymous letter and apparent car tampering since she talked to federal investigators at the facility for nearly 1,000 patients.

She said her doctor has diagnosed a gastric ulcer condition.

"I'm not going back there," she said Monday. "I get physically sick when I think about it."

The hospital is under federal investigation prompted by petitions circulated by about 189 of the facility's 1,350 employees. Mrs. Marshall said she was told by an unidentified nurses' aide that if she met with the audit team from the Veterans' Administration Hospital "You're going to get harassed after they leave."

Cincy Opera Most Happy With Show

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Opera Company has put the emphasis on an old favorite "The Most Happy Fella," and that's where the company's general manager feels it belongs.

Although the show has all the flash of a musical comedy with its show-stopping tunes such as "Big D" and "Standing on the Corner," it still was written following operatic form, according to James de Blasis.

However, he noted that as the production evolved toward its Broadway opening in 1956, some of the operatic construction was stripped out in favor of dialogue.

"I consider this to be an opera in the American tradition of Porgy and Bess," de Blasis said. "I think Frank Loesser started out to write an American opera and I think he's done it."

Although it still is performed in summer stock, Cincinnati Opera Company recently became the first American opera company to present "The Most Happy Fella" and its general director is enthused about the results.

He claims other opera companies have expressed interest in reviving the show, he has already begun discussion about possible future performances, and he talks about the still-remote possibility of bringing the show back to Broadway.

The show made its name on Broadway where it ran for 636 performances and was selected by the New York Drama Critics as best musical of the year in 1956-57.

JFK Hanky-Panky Dates Demanded

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Judith Campbell Exner has been ordered by a federal court to list the dates when she purportedly had sexual relations with the late President John F. Kennedy.

However, U.S. District Court Judge Albert Lee Stephens ruled Monday that Mrs. Exner's answers will be sealed to protect her from public ridicule.

Attorneys for Midnight Magazine had asked the judge to order her to answer as part of their defense in the 1976 libel suit she brought against the magazine. Mrs. Exner filed the suit following an article that intimated she spied on Kennedy for the Mafia.

The message in the letter was pasted on the sheet of paper in three uneven lines: "...initiation is just beginning...night duty should be good experience...but dangerous."

Mrs. Marshall received the letter a few days before she was transferred to night duty in May.

As she was driving back to Columbus on July 15, the brakes in her three-month-old car started to make "a grating noise which kept getting louder and louder."

A mechanic at the Circleville dealership where she bought the 1977 Plymouth found a three-foot piece of surgical gauze wrapped around the brakes and suspension. It forced the brakes on the driver's side to lock.

The mechanic said that meant if she were in close traffic, a sudden stop could lock up the brakes.

The brake tampering incident happened a few days after she met with a member of the audit team from the Washington headquarters which has been investigating the hospital since July 5.

Mrs. Marshall began work in Chillicothe in April, having previously worked in a Tampa, Fla. veterans hospital.

Hospital director Maurice Holton said Monday the letter was turned over to the local FBI. The brake incident, "is being investigated by the security police. It's an internal matter," he said, declining further comment.

Items employees cited on petitions included questions of grievance procedures, pay differential and a so-called "black tag list" in employees' personnel records. Hospital officials have denied the complaints.

Mack will have responsibility for all activities within Delaware, Franklin, Madison, Union, Marion, Monroe, Pickaway and Fayette counties.

Chillicothe Probe Brings Harassment

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Evelyn Marshall, a registered nurse at the Veterans Administration Hospital here, has asked for a medical leave of absence. She says her job makes her sick.

The 35-year-old Columbus mother of two has been the target of a threatening anonymous letter and apparent car tampering since she talked to federal investigators at the facility for nearly 1,000 patients.

She said her doctor has diagnosed a gastric ulcer condition. "I'm not going back there," she said Monday. "I get physically sick when I think about it."

The hospital is under federal investigation prompted by petitions circulated by about 189 of the facility's 1,350 employees. Mrs. Marshall said she was told by an unidentified nurses' aide that if she met with the audit team from the Veterans' Administration Hospital "You're going to get harassed after they leave."

Cincy Opera Most Happy With Show

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Opera Company has put the emphasis on an old favorite "The Most Happy Fella," and that's where the company's general manager feels it belongs.

Although the show has all the flash of a musical comedy with its show-stopping tunes such as "Big D" and "Standing on the Corner," it still was written following operatic form, according to James de Blasis.

However, he noted that as the production evolved toward its Broadway opening in 1956, some of the operatic construction was stripped out in favor of dialogue.

"I consider this to be an opera in the American tradition of Porgy and Bess," de Blasis said. "I think Frank Loesser started out to write an American opera and I think he's done it."

Although it still is performed in summer stock, Cincinnati Opera Company recently became the first American opera company to present "The Most Happy Fella" and its general director is enthused about the results.

He claims other opera companies have expressed interest in reviving the show, he has already begun discussion about possible future performances, and he talks about the still-remote possibility of bringing the show back to Broadway.

The show made its name on Broadway where it ran for 636 performances and was selected by the New York Drama Critics as best musical of the year in 1956-57.

Field Work Conditions Excellent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Here is the agricultural weather forecast for Ohio provided by the National Weather Service.

A cool Canadian high pressure area centered over Minnesota today will move into Ohio by Wednesday morning, providing cool weather for agriculture through Wednesday. Some warm up can be expected Thursday and a chance for showers Friday as fronts return.

FIELD OPERATIONS — Rain fell over much of Ohio Monday, but excellent drying today through Thursday will permit most all soil working activity. The plow layer in much of the state is still probably a little too dry to permit efficient plowing of oat and wheat stubble. Moisture consumption the next several days will be around 0.20 to 0.25 hundredths of an inch.

HAYING AND HARVESTING OUTLOOK — Breezy northerly winds will quickly dry straw and grain of oats remaining to be combined. Ideal combine conditions are likely this afternoon through Thursday. Afternoon humidity should generally be in the 40s and fairly rapid dissipation of moderate morning dew. Hay cut today or already down will have a good chance to be cured and harvested through Thursday. There is some risk of wetting Friday.

Cooler weather will slow the rapid pace of tobacco growth. This should permit a little more time to get the sucker control operation complete and also topping. Some of those barns will soon need to be readied for the earlier fields.

Korean Pullout Talks Ended

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Defense Secretary Harold Brown today ended talks with South Korean officials on the U.S. troop withdrawal plan, pledging continued military support and reassuring Seoul that the United States will not negotiate with North Korea behind its back.

A communique issued at the conclusion of two days of talks said the two sides had agreed on formation of a combined military command. It also described in general terms the planned phased pullout of 33,000 U.S. ground troops, and said the Carter administration would ask Congress to approve a new military aid program for South Korea.

Brown and his 11-member delegation then left for Tokyo to brief Japanese officials on the talks.

The communique said Brown and South Korean Defense Minister Suh Jyong-chul noted that Communist North Korea has strengthened itself militarily in recent years and that "the North Korean threat remains serious."

"It is essential to maintain and strengthen the defense capabilities of the Republic of Korea, at a state of readiness sufficient to deter a renewal of hostilities on the Korea peninsula," the communique said.

It then went on to list, without specifying the cost, the elements of the proposed military aid program — the transfer of U.S. military equipment, an increase in military sales credits for Seoul and continued support for "general Korean force improvement."

A senior American official has said the aid program will amount to $1.9 billion over four years. The U.S. withdrawal, a pullout of virtually all American ground troops, is expected to take four or five years.

The communique also said Brown reaffirmed that the United States "would not enter any negotiations on the future of Korea with North Korea without the participation of the Republic of Korea."

This was an apparent effort to ease South Korean fears that the United States, as it did in the case of China and Taiwan, might suddenly open a bilateral dialogue with North Korea, bypassing Seoul.

The communique said the first group of 6,000 U.S. soldiers will be withdrawn by the end of 1978, and the remaining troops will be "carefully" phased out after that.

The headquarters and two brigades of the 2nd Infantry Division, the principal Army unit here, will remain in Korea until the final phase of the withdrawal, it said.

The communique said both sides agreed that "compensatory measures will be implemented in advance or in parallel with the withdrawals."

Brown's talks with Suh and South Korean President Park Chung-hee were marked by repeated reassurances — including one in a letter from President Carter to Park — that the United States would honor its treaty commitment to defend South Korea.

"So long as an American security commitment exists, no one should have any doubt about our intention of honoring it," Brown said at a news conference before departing for Tokyo.

Scioto Valley Schools Ponder Money Woes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Scioto Valley Local School District officials were undecided Monday whether to take Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's advice and delay the opening of school this fall.

The decision to keep the Pike County district of 1,500 students closed until Oct. 21 because of its financial plight will depend on two things, Max Way, assistant superintendent, said. One is advice from the state superintendent of school's office; the other a bill now pending in the legislature which would allow a third attempt at an emergency tax levy.

"We hope for a recommendation this week from state board," Way said. "There is no doubt we are experiencing serious financial difficulties. And there are other problems. The first full week of October is when you make the official membership count (which determines state aid). This is a real concern for us. We have not adopted a calendar because we anticipated this."

A check of the district's books by Ferguson's office showed a $184,000 deficit as of June 30. If no action is taken, the deficit will be $260,000 by the end of the year, he said.

State law forbids a school district to end the year with a deficit. Ferguson figures if Scioto Valley cuts spending to essentials and delays opening until Oct. 21, it can eliminate the deficit.

Way said the district estimates it will have to cut 40 days out of the school calendar as things stand now, or 50-55 days if the board is required to pay its teachers unemployment compensation during that time.

In the meantime, the district also is watching a bill in the legislature which would allow it to try a third time this year to pass an emergency operating levy, Way said. The district saw levies defeated in January and May. If the bill passes, it probably will seek a levy of about eight mills in early September, he said.

Fifteen other school districts have asked the auditor's office for a financial analysis, and at least two dozen more are anticipated, Ferguson said.

Some American Indian "medicine wheels," such as one in Wyoming's Bighorn Mountains that is formed of stones placed in the shape of a 28-spoked wheel, were used as primitive astronomical instruments, researchers believe.

Pete Rose Aiming At Another Record

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Pete Rose has reached one lofty plateau and says only failure by him to maintain enthusiasm will slow his progress toward attaining more.

As far as physical fitness is concerned, the 36-year-old captain of the Cincinnati Reds maintained Monday night, he should be in condition to play several more years.

But in respect to his enthusiasm, mused Rose in the gloom of a 9-3 Cincinnati defeat, "it's tough to do when you lose seven games in a row."

Rose's comments followed a single he lashed in the fourth inning of a Reds defeat at the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals, establishing him as the most prolific switch-hitter in baseball history.

"It's nice," he acknowledged of his 2,881st safety, a blow which unlocked the tie he occupied with Hall of Famer Frankie Frisch. "I didn't know 10 years ago I'd be sitting here telling you I was the top switch-hitter in baseball."

"I take care of my body," said Rose, who is in his 15th major league campaign. "I've seen guys retire at 29, 32, 34 and 41. I'm not worried. I'm more worried about losing enthusiasm."

Rose's hit, also elevating him to sole possession of 21st place on the list of all-time leading hitters ahead of Frisch, was followed by another single in the eighth which left him only two behind the total compiled by Zack Wheat.

Also within range this year are the 2,927 credited to Al Simmons, who is No. 19. Three more places up the list are recently retired Frank Robinson's 2,943.

"If I played the next four years and averaged 150 hits a year, that's not a very good average," said Rose while assessing his chances of topping the National League standard of 3,630 set by former St. Louis slugger Stan Musial.

"I can move some rungs up the ladder, though," he said. "It's no disgrace to be No. 2 to Musial. Maybe by that time they'll have the designated hitter over here."

The record hit by Rose was off a 3-2 fast ball delivered by Cards left-hander Pete Falcone after the rugged Cincinnati infielder fouled off four pitches.

A Busch Stadium crowd of 37,022 was generous in its applause and the ball was eventually recovered by Reds pitching coach Larry Shepard to place in Rose's trophy case.

"The next two years will be especially important," said Rose, referring to Musial's distant NL record. "If I can get 400 hits by then I should have more than 3,300 and a chance."

Reds Trimmed By Cards, 9-8

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

It was a day of good news and bad news for Sparky Anderson.

He got the good news in the afternoon Monday when the management of the Cincinnati Reds extended his contract for two years. He got the bad news Monday night when his team's losing streak was extended to seven games.

"There's no question the contract felt good, but we've simply got to win more games," said Anderson, shaking his head after a 9-8 nationally televised defeat by the Cardinals.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Chicago Cubs beat the Houston Astros 9-7; the Pittsburgh Pirates tripped the Atlanta Braves 6-3; the Philadelphia Phillies turned back the San Diego Padres 6-4 in 12 innings; the New York Mets edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 and the Montreal Expos nipped the San Francisco Giants 4-3.

Jerry Mumphrey and Garry Templeton delivered run-scoring singles in the sixth to snap a 44 tie and Ted Simmons later pounded his 15th home run to supply power for the Cardinals' victory.

The Cards withstood an assault by Cincinnati hitters that included two home runs by George Foster and one each by Johnny Bench and Bob Bailey, in addition to Pete Rose's record 2881st career hit as a switch-hitter.

Cubs 9, Astros 7

Larry Bittner's two-run homer in the bottom of the eighth gave Chicago a comeback victory over Houston. After the Astros tied it at 7-7 with a seven-run outburst in the eighth,

Pete Rose Aiming At Another Record

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Pete Rose has reached one lofty plateau and says only failure by him to maintain enthusiasm will slow his progress toward attaining more.

As far as physical fitness is concerned, the 36-year-old captain of the Cincinnati Reds maintained Monday night, he should be in condition to play several more years.

But in respect to his enthusiasm, mused Rose in the gloom of a 9-3 Cincinnati defeat, "it's tough to do when you lose seven games in a row."

Rose's comments followed a single he lashed in the fourth inning of a Reds defeat at the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals, establishing him as the most prolific switch-hitter in baseball history.

"It's nice," he acknowledged of his 2,881st safety, a blow which unlocked the tie he occupied with Hall of Famer Frankie Frisch. "I didn't know 10 years ago I'd be sitting here telling you I was the top switch-hitter in baseball."

"I take care of my body," said Rose, who is in his 15th major league campaign. "I've seen guys retire at 29, 32, 34 and 41. I'm not worried. I'm more worried about losing enthusiasm."

Rose's hit, also elevating him to sole possession of 21st place on the list of all-time leading hitters ahead of Frisch, was followed by another single in the eighth which left him only two

behind the total compiled by Zack Wheat.

Also within range this year are the 2,927 credited to Al Simmons, who is No. 19. Three more places up the list are recently retired Frank Robinson's 2,943.

"If I played the next four years and averaged 150 hits a year, that's not a very good average," said Rose while assessing his chances of topping the National League standard of 3,630 set by former St. Louis slugger Stan Musial.

"I can move some rungs up the ladder, though," he said. "It's no disgrace to be No. 2 to Musial. Maybe by that time they'll have the designated hitter over here."

The record hit by Rose was off a 3-2 fast ball delivered by Cards left-hander Pete Falcone after the rugged Cincinnati infielder fouled off four pitches.

A Busch Stadium crowd of 37,022 was generous in its applause and the ball was eventually recovered by Reds pitching coach Larry Shepard to place in Rose's trophy case.

"The next two years will be especially important," said Rose, referring to Musial's distant NL record, "If I can get 400 hits by then I should have more than 3,300 and a chance."

Reds Trimmed By Cards, 9-8

By KEN RAPPOPORT

It was a day of good news and bad news for Sparky Anderson.

He got the good news in the afternoon Monday when the management of the Cincinnati Reds extended his contract for two years. He got the bad news Monday night when his team's losing streak was extended to seven games.

"There's no question the contract felt good, but we've simply got to win more games," said Anderson, shaking his head after a 9-8 nationally televised defeat by the Cardinals.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Chicago Cubs beat the Houston Astros 9-7; the Pittsburgh Pirates tripped the Atlanta Braves 6-3; the Philadelphia Phillies turned back the San Diego Padres 6-4 in 12 innings; the New York Mets edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 and the Montreal Expos nipped the San Francisco Giants 4-3.

Jerry Mumphy and Garry Templeton delivered run-scoring singles in the sixth to snap a 4-4 tie and Ted Simmons later pounded his 15th home run to supply power for the Cardinals' victory.

The Cards withstood an assault by Cincinnati hitters that included two home runs by George Foster and one each by Johnny Bench and Bob Bailey, in addition to Pete Rose's record 2881st career hit as a switch-hitter.

Cubs 9, Astros 7

Larry Bittner's two-run homer in the bottom of the eighth gave Chicago a comeback victory over Houston. After the Astros tied it at 7-7 with a seven-run outburst in the eighth,

Chisox Bombard Boston, 8-7 O.J. Unhappy With Bills Outlook

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

To win at Boston's Fenway Park, "You have to be lucky," according to Chicago White Sox Manager Bob Lemon.

"We were hitting the ball well but right at somebody."

That was just for the first part of Monday night's game.

"I thought we were unlucky for about the first six innings," said Lemon after his White Sox rallied from a 6-1 deficit with a home run barrage and defeated the Red Sox, 8-7.

"We came out in the end swinging like a fighter," Lemon said. "It's been like this all year."

Eric Soderholm, Jim Spencer and Brian Downing hit homers, and two more drives might have gone for extra bases but for two stellar plays by Boston center fielder Fred Lynn.

While Lynn was practicing his magic in the outfield during the rain-delayed contest, Luis Tiant was baffling the White Sox with his assortment of off-speed pitches.

Then the roof fell in.

Soderholm, robbed twice by Lynn's catches on drives to the base of the center field wall, cracked a 3-2 pitch for his third homer in two days. Tiant was relieved by ace reliever Bill Campbell, but the White Sox weren't through.

Spencer capped a four-run eighth inning with a three-run shot that tied the score, and Downing slammed only his second homer of the season in the ninth inning to win the game.

In other AL games Monday, Minnesota edged Oakland 2-1 in 11 innings, Baltimore nipped Milwaukee 4-3 in 11 innings, Texas defeated Cleveland 6-4, Detroit clobbered Toronto 8-3 and California downed Seattle 7-2. Kansas City at New York was rained out.

Orioles 4, Brewers 3

Dave Criscone's first major league home run in the bottom of the 11th inning gave Baltimore its victory over Milwaukee. The Orioles, leaders in the AL East race, had tied the game in the bottom of the ninth on Billy Smith's bases-loaded single.

Angels 7, Mariners 2

Don Baylor smashed two home runs and a single, driving in six runs to lead California over Seattle and help Nolan Ryan win his 14th victory of the season. Rance Mulliniks also had three hits, including a triple, as the Angels pounded out 13 hits.

Twins 2, A's 1

An 11th-inning single by Larry Hisle scored Rod Carew with the winning run as Minnesota edged Oakland behind the brilliant pitching of Dave Goltz.

Goltz, 12-6, went the route in allowing eight hits, striking out 14 and walking only one.

Rangers 6, Indians 4

Bert Campaneris shortened up to bunt, then punched a single through Cleveland's drawn-in infield to tie the score, and Claudell Washington followed with a two-run single as Texas scored three times in the ninth inning to defeat the Indians.

Tigers 8, Blue Jays 3

Ron LeFlore hit an inside-the-park home run and added a run-scoring single to help lead Detroit over Toronto. It was Detroit's third straight victory and Toronto's fifth straight loss.

Milt May, Phil Mankowski and Rusty Staub also drove in two runs apiece.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

O.J. Simpson may not be looking forward to another winter in Buffalo, but Chuck Fairbanks is ready for another in Foxboro, Mass. ... and another, and another ...

Fairbanks had three years remaining on his original eight-year contract with the New England Patriots and signed a new long-term contract with the National Football League team Monday.

Club President William H. Sullivan announced the agreement Monday, saying the contract calls for a pay raise and retains Fairbanks as general manager. No other details were announced.

The 44-year-old Fairbanks joined the Patriots in 1973 after six seasons at the University of Oklahoma. He has piloted New England to a four-year record of 26-30. Last season the club had its best record ever, 11-3, and advanced to the playoffs for the first time in 13 years.

In Buffalo, meanwhile, Simpson made it clear to the Bills that he is upset over the team's trade of center Mike Montler and the inability of the club to strengthen itself.

"It's frustrating. There's no straighter way to say it. I've always worked hard and always played hard. But you can only do so much," Simpson said.

The Bills continued housecleaning by placing former All-Pro cornerback Robert James on waivers at his request.

James, who missed the past two seasons, failed the team physical this season. Meanwhile, Buffalo announced that offensive tackle Donnie Green, who lost his starting job to Joe Devlin late last year, had walked out of training camp for unknown reasons.

Cincinnati Bengals Coach Bill Johnson said two-time Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin would see more action this season.

"Maybe we made a mistake the first half of the season. Had he played the entire season, I'm sure he would have gained 1,000 yards," said Johnson, referring to the celebrated running back.

New Orleans Coach Hank Stram announced he was not going to trade his next No. 1 draft choice — not even to get an All-Pro defensive back.

Stram said he wouldn't swap a first-round draft choice for Mel Blount, the Pittsburgh star who has filed a $5 million slander suit against Steelers' Coach Chuck Noll.

Blount claims he was damaged by court testimony in which Noll said Blount sometimes could be considered part of the "criminal element" of the NFL.

In Washington, Redskins Coach George Allen announced that running back Mike Thomas and wide receiver Frank Grant will be fined the maximum $500 per day for missing training camp.

The fines are part of Allen's "get tough" approach with holdouts.

Kansas City punter Jerrel Wilson has asked the Chiefs to trade him to Houston so he can be close to his ailing foster parents, but talks between the two clubs have reached a stalemate.

In other developments, the Cleveland Browns announced they had signed veteran offensive tackle and captain Doug Dieken, ending a brief holdout, while the Detroit Lions acquired veteran defensive back Chris Fletcher from the San Diego Chargers for a ninth-round draft choice in 1978.

Games Still Played By Humans

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

The sports world of the sixties and seventies expanded into the realm of briefcases and big business, but lest we forget, the games are still played by human beings, the kind of animal that laughs when he's happy and cries when he's sad.

Pro football players, perhaps because their emotions are hidden by helmets and their bodies shielded by plastic and cushions, are sometimes pictured as violent creatures, devoid of human feelings.

That, of course, isn't the case, and if anyone needs confirmation that the image won't wash, he should listen to Jerrel Wilson, adopted son of Nan and Douglas Wilson and veteran punter for the Kansas City Chiefs.

Wilson wants out from the National Football League team that he served so well for 14 seasons, not because he wants more money or better hours, but because he wants to be near his ailing parents.

"For 20 years they gave me the most wonderful life I could have ever hoped to imagine," said Wilson, who wants to be traded to Houston, a soft punt away from his parents' ranch near Huntsville, Tex. "They weren't rich by any means, but they always made sure I got to practice, had football shoes and I had everything I wanted."

"I owe them everything and it's because of them that I'm in football now."

"The thing is that they are both so close to each other that I'm afraid that if one of them goes the other will follow shortly thereafter. They are not old people, but very sick."

Nan Wilson underwent cancer surgery last winter and a few days later Douglas Wilson suffered a heart attack.

"If one of them goes, then I'm gone (to Texas)," the 36-year-old punter said. "I've got to go and Coach (Paul) Wiggin is fully aware and fully understanding and willing."

Wiggin, a strong, sensitive man, is in the middle of a difficult situation. He, too, feels family comes ahead of first downs. "I told (owner) Lamar Hunt when he hired me that if my wife or children were in the hospital, the Super Bowl wouldn't mean very much to me."

But Wiggin says he also has a responsibility as the coach of the Chiefs. "Jerrel knows this job is a fight for survival for me," he said.

"I feel very strongly for Jerrel," Wiggin said by phone from the Chiefs' training camp in Kansas City. "I want what's right for him. If it's possible for this thing to be worked out, then we'll do it. But we have to cover ourselves."

Burn Phillips, coach of the Houston Oilers, says he would love to have Wilson. The Oilers have been hurt because quarterback Dan Pastorini has doubled as the team's punter. He averaged 36.7 yards last season, compared to Wilson's career mark of 43.9.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the NFL, has served as a catalyst in similar situations before.

"There have been cases where Pete has helped work out a deal to accommodate the player," an NFL spokesman said Monday. "Pete would be willing to talk to both sides in this case."

Both sides say they would welcome the assistance, and a respected, impartial voice might be needed to resolve this human problem in the team-oriented world of pro football.

Sparky Gets Pact, But Still Unhappy

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sparky Anderson, sorely disappointed over the performance of his Cincinnati Reds, wasn't interested enough in his two year contract extension to ask if he got a raise.

Anderson blames himself for the Reds inability to win, catch the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League Western Division and repeat as World Champions.

The Reds did not announce actual figure, estimated at $100,000. Anderson said he did not know how much he will be paid. He never negotiates but accepts whatever figure President Bob Howsam offers. He also indicated he believes the extension was Howsam's way of taking some of the pressure off the manager.

"I've always felt he gave me the opportunity to manage in the big leagues and that is the important thing," said Anderson, who has won five Division titles, four National League Pennants and two consecutive World Championships in eight years. The extension will make him the manager with the longest tenure ever with the Cincinnati Reds exceeding the nine year record held by Bill McKechnie.

Anderson's current contract ran through the end of this season.

"I'm very happy because it's my only major league managing job and I don't want to ever leave here," said Anderson before Monday night's game in St. Louis.

"Up to this year, I feel—and I'm not just trying to be modest—we should have had a much better ball club than one that is 48-45."

"It's kind of gratifying that they would give me a new contract, because I think they have to be disappointed in the kind of year we're having too," said Anderson before Monday night's game.

"I have to think the man (Howsam) really respects my baseball. I'm grateful."

Anderson said he believes that Howsam on two occasions paid him more money than he deserved.

"You don't have to do this," Anderson said he recalled telling Howsam after winning a new contract in 1972 despite losing to Oakland in the World Series. The second time was after winning the World Title in Boston in 1975.

Rangers Edge Tribe; Win Tilt 6-4

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bert Campaneris waved his magic wand Monday night and helped the Texas Rangers pull a victory out of their hats.

The lithe Texas shortstop punched a ball through a drawn-in infield to drive in the tying run and set up Claudell Washington's decisive two-run single in a ninth-inning rally that carried the Rangers to a 6-4 victory over the hapless Cleveland Indians.

Cleveland, which fell past Detroit into fifth place in the American League East, appeared on the verge of victory with a 4-3 lead and ace reliever Jim Kern on the mound as the ninth inning opened.

However, Kern, 4-7, walked Jim Sundberg and Mike Hargrove to start the inning. That brought up Campaneris, a wizard at the art of using a bat.

The veteran squared around as if to lay down a bunt, then swung away at Kern's first pitch, driving it up the middle for a run-scoring single. Campaneris went to second as center-fielder Jim Norris fumbled the ball for Cleveland's third error of the night.

Washington followed with a hard smash to left, salting away the game for Texas reliever Nelson Briles, 4-4, who appeared to be the goat when he gave up Ray Fosse's sixth homer of the year in the seventh.

Actually, he's scheduled to compete in a minimum of 21 international events, possibly 22.

But a close look at his schedule shows how limited he is in his choices of events. The businessman is involved in a couple of them.

He is, of course, deeply committed to participation in the Big Four tournaments, the Masters, U.S. and British Opens, the PGA. He is committed to the Tournament Players Championship, a designated tournament in which he is required to play. The Pleasant Valley Classic also was designated this year. Another must.

Then there's the World Series of Golf. Naturally, he plays in his own Memorial Tournament.

And how could he skip Kings Island, played at the Jack Nicklaus Golf Center and at which he is host? Or the Canadian Open, being played for the first time on a course he designed as a permanent home for that national championship? Or the Ryder Cup?

9th Bengal Injured

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Wide receiver Billy Brooks has become the ninth player hobbled in workouts at the Cincinnati Bengals training camp.

Brooks, the club's top draft pick in 1976, injured his knee during workouts Monday but said he did not think it was serious. He said he feared possible ligament strain or "damage I didn't know I had."

The injury list now includes: starters fullback Boobie Clark, foot; defensive end Coy Bacon, back spasms; and defensive back Marvin Cobb, hamstring.

Rookies Wilson Whitley of Houston and Rick Walker of UCLA, missed part of Monday's workouts after mishaps during afternoon drills.

Walker, kick returner Willie Shelby and wide receiver Alex Percival are out with hamstrings, while Whitley, a first-round draft choice has a groin pull.

Fourth-year defensive lineman Bill Kollar was scheduled to leave after morning workouts for Oklahoma City where he will be examined for a foot injury.

He had surgery on the foot last season, but he said it had not mended properly.

Muhammad Ali To Duel Shavers

NEW YORK (AP) — "Carunch, Gulp, sa-lurp." Muhammad Ali, a good eater and pretty fair talker, was doing both at once before an open microphone.

"I'm overexposed so I don't want to do no talking," said Muhammad Ali before launching his remarks that ran better than an hour at a news conference Monday to announce formally his heavyweight title defense against Earnie Shavers Sept. 29 at Madison Square Garden.

"So you ask some questions ... while I eat," said Ali, who proceeded to show that food doesn't hinder his talking any more than a mouthpiece does when he fights.

Chisox Bombard Boston, 8-7 O.J. Unhappy With Bills Outlook

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

To win at Boston's Fenway Park, "You have to be lucky," according to Chicago White Sox Manager Bob Lemon.

"We were hitting the ball well but right at somebody."

That was just for the first part of Monday night's game.

"I thought we were unlucky for about the first six innings," said Lemon after his White Sox rallied from a 6-1 deficit with a home run barrage and defeated the Red Sox, 8-7.

"We came out in the end swinging like a fighter," Lemon said. "It's been like this all year."

Eric Soderholm, Jim Spencer and Brian Downing hit homers, and two more drives might have gone for extra bases but for two stellar plays by Boston center fielder Fred Lynn.

While Lynn was practicing his magic in the outfield during the rain-delayed contest, Luis Tiant was baffling the White Sox with his assortment of off-speed pitches.

Then the roof fell in.

Soderholm, robbed twice by Lynn's catches on drives to the base of the center field wall, cracked a 3-2 pitch for his third homer in two days. Tiant was relieved by ace reliever Bill Campbell, but the White Sox weren't through.

Spencer capped a four-run eighth inning with a three-run shot that tied the score, and Downing slammed only his second homer of the season in the ninth inning to win the game.

In other AL games Monday, Minnesota edged Oakland 2-1 in 11 innings, Baltimore nipped Milwaukee 4-3 in 11 innings, Texas defeated Cleveland 6-4, Detroit clobbered Toronto 8-3 and California downed Seattle 7-2. Kansas City at New York was rained out.

Orioles 4, Brewers 3

Dave Criscone's first major league home run in the bottom of the 11th inning gave Baltimore its victory over Milwaukee. The Orioles, leaders in the AL East race, had tied the game in the bottom of the ninth on Billy Smith's bases-loaded single.

Angels 7, Mariners 2

Don Baylor smashed two home runs and a single, driving in six runs to lead California over Seattle and help Nolan Ryan win his 14th victory of the season. Rance Mulliniks also had three hits, including a triple, as the Angels pounded out 13 hits.

Twins 2, A's 1

An 11th-inning single by Larry Hise scored Rod Carew with the winning run as Minnesota edged Oakland behind the brilliant pitching of Dave Goltz.

Goltz, 12-6, went the route in allowing eight hits, striking out 14 and walking only one.

Rangers 6, Indians 4

Bert Campaneris shortened up to bunt, then punched a single through Cleveland's drawn-in infield to tie the score, and Claudell Washington followed with a two-run single as Texas scored three times in the ninth inning to defeat the Indians.

Tigers 8, Blue Jays 3

Ron LeFlore hit an inside-the-park home run and added a run-scoring single to help lead Detroit over Toronto. It was Detroit's third straight victory and Toronto's fifth straight loss.

Milt May, Phil Mankowski and Rusty Staub also drove in two runs apiece.

O.J. Simpson may not be looking forward to another winter in Buffalo, but Chuck Fairbanks is ready for another in Foxboro, Mass. ... and another, and another ...

Fairbanks had three years remaining on his original eightyear contract with the New England Patriots and signed a new long-term contract with the National Football League team Monday.

Club President William H. Sullivan announced the agreement Monday, saying the contract calls for a pay raise and retains Fairbanks as general manager. No other details were announced.

The 44-year-old Fairbanks joined the Patriots in 1973 after six seasons at the University of Oklahoma. He has piloted New England to a four-year record of 26-30. Last season the club had its best record ever, 11-3, and advanced to the playoffs for the first time in 13 years.

In Buffalo, meanwhile, Simpson made it clear to the Bills that he is upset over the team's trade of center Mike Montler and the inability of the club to strengthen itself.

"It's frustrating. There's no straighter way to say it. I've always worked hard and always played hard. But you can only do so much," Simpson said.

The Bills continued housecleaning by placing former All-Pro cornerback Robert James on waivers at his request.

James, who missed the past two seasons, failed the team physical this season. Meanwhile, Buffalo announced that offensive tackle Donnie Green, who lost his starting job to Joe Devlin late last year, had walked out of training camp for unknown reasons.

Cincinnati Bengals Coach Bill Johnson said two-time Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin would see more action this season.

"Maybe we made a mistake the first half of the season. Had he played the entire season, I'm sure he would have gained 1,000 yards," said Johnson, referring to the celebrated running back.

New Orleans Coach Hank Stram announced he was not going to trade his next No. 1 draft choice — not even to get an All-Pro defensive back.

Stram said he wouldn't swap a first-round draft choice for Mel Blount, the Pittsburgh star who has filed a $5 million slander suit against Steelers' Coach Chuck Noll.

Blount claims he was damaged by court testimony in which Noll said Blount sometimes could be considered part of the "criminal element" of the NFL.

In Washington, Redskins Coach George Allen announced that running back Mike Thomas and wide receiver Frank Grant will be fined the maximum $500 per day for missing training camp.

The fines are part of Allen's "get tough" approach with holdouts.

Kansas City punter Jerrel Wilson has asked the Chiefs to trade him to Houston so he can be close to his ailing foster parents, but talks between the two clubs have reached a stalemate.

In other developments, the Cleveland Browns announced they had signed veteran offensive tackle and captain Doug Dieken, ending a brief holdout, while the Detroit Lions acquired veteran defensive back Chris Fletcher from the San Diego Chargers for a ninth-round draft choice in 1978.

Games Still Played By Humans

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

The sports world of the sixties and seventies expanded into the realm of briefcases and big business, but lest we forget, the games are still played by human beings, the kind of animal that laughs when he's happy and cries when he's sad.

Pro football players, perhaps because their emotions are hidden by helmets and their bodies shielded by plastic and cushions, are sometimes pictured as violent creatures, devoid of human feelings.

That, of course, isn't the case, and if anyone needs confirmation that the image won't wash, he should listen to Jerrel Wilson, adopted son of Nan and Douglas Wilson and veteran punter for the Kansas City Chiefs.

Wilson wants out from the National Football League team that he served so well for 14 seasons, not because he wants more money or better hours, but because he wants to be near his ailing parents.

"For 20 years they gave me the most wonderful life I could have ever hoped to imagine," said Wilson, who wants to be traded to Houston, a soft punt away from his parents' ranch near Huntsville, Tex. "They weren't rich by any means, but they always made sure I got to practice, had football shoes and I had everything I wanted."

"I owe them everything and it's because of them that I'm in football now."

"The thing is that they are both so close to each other that I'm afraid that if one of them goes the other will follow shortly thereafter. They are not old people, but very sick."

Nan Wilson underwent cancer surgery last winter and a few days later Douglas Wilson suffered a heart attack.

"If one of them goes, then I'm gone (to Texas)," the 36-year-old punter said. "I've got to go and Coach (Paul) Wiggin is fully aware and fully understanding and willing."

Wiggin, a strong, sensitive man, is in the middle of a difficult situation. He, too, feels family comes ahead of first downs. "I told (owner) Lamar Hunt when he hired me that if my wife or children were in the hospital, the Super Bowl wouldn't mean very much to me."

But Wiggin says he also has a responsibility as the coach of the Chiefs. "Jerrel knows this job is a fight for survival for me," he said.

"I feel very strongly for Jerrel," Wiggin said by phone from the Chiefs' training camp in Kansas City. "I want what's right for him. If it's possible for this thing to be worked out, then we'll do it. But we have to cover ourselves."

Bum Phillips, coach of the Houston Oilers, says he would love to have Wilson. The Oilers have been hurt because quarterback Dan Pastorini has doubled as the team's punter. He averaged 36.7 yards last season, compared to Wilson's career mark of 43.9.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the NFL, has served as a catalyst in similar situations before.

"There have been cases where Pete has helped work out a deal to accommodate the player," an NFL spokesman said Monday. "Pete would be willing to talk to both sides in this case."

Both sides say they would welcome the assistance, and a respected, impartial voice might be needed to resolve this human problem in the team-oriented world of pro football.

9th Bengal Injured

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Wide receiver Billy Brooks has become the ninth player hobbled in workouts at the Cincinnati Bengals training camp.

Brooks, the club's top draft pick in 1976, injured his knee during workouts Monday but said he did not think it was serious. He said he feared possible ligament strain or "damage I didn't know I had."

The injury list now includes: starters fullback Boobie Clark, foot; defensive end Coy Bacon, back spasms; and defensive back Marvin Cobb, hamstring.

Rookies Wilson Whitley of Houston and Rick Walker of UCLA, missed part of Monday's workouts after mishaps during afternoon drills.

Walker, kick returner Willie Shelby and wide receiver Alex Percival are out with hamstrings, while Whitley, a firstround draft choice has a groin pull.

Fourth-year defensive lineman Bill Kollar was scheduled to leave after morning workouts for Oklahoma City where he will be examined for a foot injury.

He had surgery on the foot last season, but he said it had not mended properly.

Sparky Gets Pact, But Still Unhappy

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sparky Anderson, sorely disappointed over the performance of his Cincinnati Reds, wasn't interested enough in his two year contract extension to ask if he got a raise.

Anderson blames himself for the Reds inability to win, catch the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League Western Division and repeat as World Champions.

The Reds did not announce actual figure, estimated at $100,000. Anderson said he did not know how much he will be paid. He never negotiates but accepts whatever figure President Bob Howsam offers. He also indicated he believes the extension was Howsam's way of taking some of the pressure off the manager.

"I've always felt he gave me the opportunity to manage in the big leagues and that is the important thing," said Anderson, who has won five Division titles, four National League Pennants and two consecutive World Championships in eight years. The extension will make him the manager with the longest tenure ever with the Cincinnati Reds exceeding the nine year record held by Bill McKechnie.

Anderson's current contract ran through the end of this season.

"I'm very happy because it's my only major league managing job and I don't want to ever leave here," said Anderson before Monday night's game in St. Louis.

"Up to this year, I feel—and I'm not just trying to be modest—we should have had a much better ball club than one that is 48-45."

"It's kind of gratifying that they would give me a new contract, because I think they have to be disappointed in the kind of year we're having too," said Anderson before Monday night's game.

"I have to think the man (Howsam) really respects my baseball. I'm grateful."

Anderson said he believes that Howsam on two occasions paid him more money than he deserved.

"You don't have to do this," Anderson said he recalled telling Howsam after winning a new contract in 1972 despite losing to Oakland in the World Series. The second time was after winning the World Title in Boston in 1975.

SPEAKMAN REALTY

SOME BENEFITS OF AGE

If you want more house for your dollar, you have good cause to look over older houses. But there are other good reasons for shopping the old ones too. For one thing, there are simply more old houses than new ones. For every new house that will go up this year there are some 45 existing homes already on the market.

Many older homes, especially those built before World War II, offer more abundant space than new homes do — a special attraction if you have a large and growing family, but a limited budget.

Most old homes are in well-established, well-developed neighborhoods. There will be no waiting for streets to be paved, sewers to be connected or schools to be built. All that is going to grace the neighborhood is probably already there, so that worrying about the future will have been done for you already.

Thinking of selling your home? It makes sense to list where you get special service — Speakman Realty — 129 1/2 W. Main St. Telephone: 474-2898 — Free Appraisals with no obligation. We're here to help!

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth
Sign.

FOR WEDNESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr.
20): Mixed influences. Choose prudently what must be accomplished first, and what must be completely deleted from your schedule. Press for new advances.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Emphasize your clear thinking and your innate understanding and tolerance of others. Thus you will achieve the cooperation of associates in bringing about mutual aims.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A day in which to capitalize on your versatility and progressive thinking. The big jobs may be easier for you to handle than the tedious chores: Patience!

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Some unprecedented moves or unusual propositions possible. Study all situations carefully so that you can cope efficiently.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23):
Many fields of endeavor are favored by generous planetary influences. Capitalize on your fine talents, your magnetic personality.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept.
23): A good day for hurdling obstacles which may have stymied you in the past; for skirting impasses and undesirable situations. A good friend may help you.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23):
Concentrate on substantial and pertinent matters. Avoid activities which interfere with obligations. A good idea from an unexpected source could prove extremely helpful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov.
22): Keep on your own course. Fend off the skeptics and the worry birds. Don't make changes just because someone suggests them.
Have a logical reason.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A day in which to emphasize your finesse; for doing things in such an unusual way that others will not only approve, but look forward to your next move.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Take everything into account before you begin the day. Observe outside influences, trends. Do not change plans if you logically should not.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb.
19): Auspicious influences now stimulate your imagination and creative talents. Progress and enduring reward indicated through properly channeled efforts.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar.
20): Avoid impulsiveness.
There's such a tendency now and it could lead you into errors, so be careful.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a dynamic personality and have a natural gift for leadership. In business or the field of salesmanship, you could carve an outstanding career since you are competent, self-assured and gifted with fine executive ability. In the world of art, you could excel at literature, painting or in the theater. You are a generous individual, strong, determined and proud but, in the latter connection, be sure that your pride does not develop into arrogance - a typical Leoite failing. Birthdate of:
Leo Durocher, baseball manager and coach; Keenan
Wynn, film actor.

Final Distribution Of 1975 License Tag Fees Announced

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office reported today the final distribution of 1975 state motor vehicle registration fees totaling $11,197,135.45 to Ohio counties, cities, townships, and villages. Pickaway County received $5,178.46.

Of the amount, $3,816,450.13 went to 80 counties and/or their municipalities that imposed an additional $5 levy on each set of license plates sold in 1975.

The counties received 47 per cent of the remainder, or $3,049,892.04, while the municipalities shared 34 per cent, or $3,261,620.34, on the basis of vehicle count.

Under the complicated formula by which motor vehicle license money is apportioned to the local political subdivisions, the counties received most of the funds, Ferguson said.

The distribution of license fees is based primarily on a formula involving the number of motor vehicles registered within a county or municipality. The big county-small county equalization factor, together with the number of county and township road miles, determine distribution.

The other $1,069,172.94 was dispensed to the counties and townships on a nine per cent county road mileage basis, a five per cent county equalization factor and a five per cent township road mileage basis.

Ferguson said under these three formulas the counties shared $506,450.34 of the nine per cent basis and $281,361.30 (each county receiving $3,197.28) in five per cent equalization funds. The 1,320 townships shared in a total of $281,361.30 based on the number of road miles within their borders.

ADC Fraud Case To Bring Action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The names of three Clark County residents who allegedly received more than $8,000 in Aid to Dependent Children payments while working in area schools have been turned over to the county prosecutor for possible legal action, the state Auditor said Monday.

Auditor Thomas Ferguson, who refused to name the individuals involved, said two were employees of the Springfield School District and one worked for the Clark County Technical Institute.

The allegedly illegal payments are appearing around the state as Ferguson's office computer cross-checks ADC roles and those of the state's School Employees' Retirement System.

Carter Sees Hope For More Nuclear Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says there is now "a glimmer of hope" that the spread of atomic weapons can be limited, even though "every step is going to be a challenge in itself."

"Six or eight months ago there was a general feeling around the world that nothing could be done, that it was too late, that the atomic genie was out of the bottle and that nobody could catch it to return it to captivity," the President said.

"But I believe there is a different feeling now, that there is a glimmer of hope that the proliferation of nations who have an explosive atomic device can be limited. Instead of having dozens of atomic nations, I think the likelihood is we won't have very many more."

Carter also said in an interview that "I don't know of any nation" which disagrees with his goal of total and orderly nuclear disarmament.

The President said that the United States has "instituted a very strong program based on two simple principles: one is an adequate supply of nuclear fuel to be used for the production of power; the other one ... is strict control over nuclear wastes and the enriched uranium inventory to prevent a transfer into explosives."

Carter said he has received some Soviet and Chinese backing for his goals of stopping the spread of nuclear weapons and, ultimately, eliminating them entirely. But he also said he hopes for even more cooperation from the two Communist giants.

He said the Soviet Union "has been very forthcoming so far" in support of proposals to control the use and development of nuclear fuels, tools and knowhow.

He said he was disappointed by Moscow's rejection of a proposal for "a drastic reduction in atomic weaponry," but added, "It is still a very real goal for my administration."

Carter said the Chinese leaders shared his goal of total nuclear disarmament. He said he had discussed Peking's views with Ambassador Huang Chen, chief of China's liaison mission in Washington.

The Chinese, Carter said, have a three-part approach to the issue: first, a world summit to discuss the subject; second, a pledge by nuclear nations against first-use of their weapons; and third, the total elimination of nuclear weapons.

"I think it is a good idea, a good approach," he said. "The first step obviously is to derive some agreement between ourselves and the Soviet Union." Carter said other nations "would be influenced heavily by what we do. We are prepared today to stop all testing of nuclear devices, both weapons and peaceful nuclear devices, if the Soviets will agree."

"I think we together are making some good progress on that subject. I think we will have a move toward the constraint on testing. Whether it is absolute, I don't know, but we would be willing, for a limited period of time, to stop all testing, hoping that the other nuclear nations would join us after they see how well the prohibition works between us and the Soviet Union."

Discussing other aspects of nuclear policy in the Oval Office interview, Carter said:

—His administration has not foreclosed the hope or possibility of

Two local employees of General Telephone Co. of Ohio have completed courses at the company's technical training school in Marion.

Ruth Ann Rihl, 1050 Sunshine St., has completed a course covering business office procedures, including voice training, basic phone service and equipment.

Denise L. See, 150 Crites Road, has completed a course focused on the psychology and practical application of sales techniques. A service representative in the company's Circleville district, Ms. See has been with General for one month.

The school's curriculum includes more than 90 courses and seminars. Classroom training helps employees to develop job skills and to keep pace with the technological advancement.

Lack Of Hurricanes Mystifies Weathermen Along Southern U.S.

MIAMI (AP) — The summer months are normally stormy times for the Caribbean and regions of the southwestern North Atlantic Ocean. But the absence of even a single tropical storm so far this season has forecasters at the National Hurricane Center wondering.

"It is a little unusual to not have any depressions or tropical systems this summer," forecaster Ray Biedinger said Monday. "So far nothing has happened."

A depression is a surface low-pressure system that can combine with ocean-warmed air to produce first a tropical storm, then a hurricane.

It becomes a tropical storm and is named when maximum sustained winds reach at least 39 miles per hour. It becomes a hurricane when the winds top 74 m.p.h.

The early part of last season was also quiet but had produced a tropical storm by this time. It became harmless Anna, the first of six 1976 hurricanes.

The Atlantic hurricane season starts June 1 and ends Dec. 1. Although the prime hurricane months are August, September and October, forecaster and hurricane expert Gilbert Clark said a tropical storm can kick up anytime. And he said one can rapidly become a hurricane.

"It's just a matter of waiting until things get warm enough," he said. "Warm ocean waters are part of the cause of hurricanes. Hurricanes are heat machines. They travel on heat."

Water temperatures usually need to rise a few degrees — up toward the mid-80s — before hurricanes develop.

Fewer Cattle For Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — A mid-year survey shows that farmers and ranchers are continuing to reduce cattle inventories because of sagging beef prices.

As of July 1, the Agriculture Department said Monday, there were an estimated 130.6 million cattle and calves on hand, a decline of 2 per cent from July 1, of last year when nearly 133.6 million were on hand.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said there were 52.3 million head of cows and heifers that have had calves on hand, compared with 53.9 million on July 1, 1976, a cutback of 3 per cent. That was also a 10 per cent reduction from almost 58 million head two years ago.

Officials said the July 1 inventory included 41.3 million beef cows, a reduction of 3 per cent from more than 42.8 million a year ago and 12 per cent fewer than the 46.9 million on hand July 1, 1975.

The report said the 1977 calf crop is expected to be 46.1 million, down 3 per cent from 47.4 million in 1976 and 9 per cent fewer than the record of 50.7 million in 1974.

Woman Freed Over Incident

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Diana Lee Stanley, 20, of Hazel Park, Mich., was released to the custody of her parents Monday after she pleaded no contest to disorderly conduct for attempting to disrobe during church services.

Witnesses said Miss Stanley took off her blouse during Sunday morning services at the First Presbyterian Church. Police said she started to remove her skirt when some women in the congregation restrained her.

The 30-day jail sentence was suspended on the condition she return home with her parents for counseling.

Police said she offered no reason for her actions.

control.

—He would go along with arrangements for swapping data with other nations on America's uranium inventories and mining extraction rates. But he ruled out any suggestion that there should be international ownership or control of U.S. uranium mines.

—He thinks that besides the five acknowledged nuclear weapons powers — the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and China — "there are some others that are not known." He did not name any country.

—He took issue with some scientists who have contested U.S. government figures on the supply of uranium and have suggested that there may be a shortage within the next 10 to 15 years. "Nobody has a sure set of data," he said, but added: "I think we are overestimating the demand for nuclear fuels." He also said there "has never been an adequate worldwide inventory of uranium fuels." Carter added: "I think that a good estimate of demand will help. I think when we compare that with a fairly well-assured supply that we will have no shortage of uranium fuel in the next 15 or 20 years."

"At that time, of course, some form of advanced reactor technology will be necessary ... I think we can be prepared to use it safely by then."

The President, who did graduate work in nuclear physics and, while in the Navy, worked on the development of atomic submarines, said he had never witnessed a nuclear test shot. He said that while in the Navy in the early 1950s "we went through months of indoctrination on the scope of anticipated damage" from a nuclear blast. "The very clear conclusion is that once an atomic device is exploded in an area, there is no practical way to minimize the damage."

Echoing a theme he sounded through the interview, Carter said: "I think that world opinion is on the side of restraining a nuclear explosive capacity among the nonnuclear nations. Although some nations have a reluctance to be restrained, I think world opinion is still a growing factor."

Deputies Check Four Thefts

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies are investigating four theft reports.

Marion DeLong, 2179 N. Court St., told officers that thieves broke into an outside shed at his home.

While ransacking the building, the thieves apparently uncovered a set of keys which unlocked DeLong's residence.

Once inside, they took prescription drugs totaling $800 from a shelf in the kitchen area.

Thieves took piano tuning equipment and an assortment of hand tools from a garage at the 7766 Stahl Road, Orient, home of Allan T. Evans.

Included in the tuning equipment was an electric strobe tuner valued at $320.

Thieves forced the bathroom window of the 13504 Route 56, Kingston, home of Jewel Terry.

Pills valued at $16.50, a bottle of wine, and a .22 caliber revolver valued at $50 were taken.

Sandy M. Layton, 14 Troy Road, Commercial Point, told deputies that thieves took a charge card from her wallet. The card is usable at a department store in Columbus.

Final Distribution Of 1975 License Tag Fees Announced

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office reported today the final distribution of 1975 state motor vehicle registration fees totaling $11,197,135.45 to Ohio counties, cities, townships, and villages. Pickaway County received $5,178.46.

Of the amount, $3,816,450.13 went to 80 counties and their municipalities that imposed an additional $5 levy on each set of license plates sold in 1975.

The counties received 47 per cent of the remainder, or $3,049,892.04, while the municipalities shared 34 per cent, or $3,261,620.34, on the basis of vehicle count.

Under the complicated formula by which motor vehicle license money is apportioned to the local political subdivisions, the counties received most of the funds, Ferguson said.

The distribution of license fees is based primarily on a formula involving the number of motor vehicles registered within a county or municipality. The big county-small county equalization factor, together with the number of county and township road miles, determine distribution.

The other $1,069,172.94 was dispensed to the counties and townships on a nine per cent county road mileage basis, a five per cent county equalization factor and a five per cent township road mileage basis.

Ferguson said under these three formulas the counties shared $506,450.34 of the nine per cent basis and $281,361.30 (each county receiving $3,197.28) in five per cent equalization funds. The 1,320 townships shared in a total of $281,361.30 based on the number of road miles within their borders.

ADC Fraud Case To Bring Action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The names of three Clark County residents who allegedly received more than $8,000 in Aid to Dependent Children payments while working in area schools have been turned over to the county prosecutor for possible legal action, the state Auditor said Monday.

Auditor Thomas Ferguson, who refused to name the individuals involved, said two were employees of the Springfield School District and one worked for the Clark County Technical Institute.

The allegedly illegal payments are appearing around the state as Ferguson's office computer cross-checks ADC roles and those of the state's School Employees' Retirement System.

Carter Sees Hope For More Nuclear Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says there is now "a glimmer of hope" that the spread of atomic weapons can be limited, even though "every step is going to be a challenge in itself."

"Six or eight months ago there was a general feeling around the world that nothing could be done, that it was too late, that the atomic genie was out of the bottle and that nobody could catch it to return it to captivity," the President said.

"But I believe there is a different feeling now, that there is a glimmer of hope that the proliferation of nations who have an explosive atomic device can be limited. Instead of having dozens of atomic nations, I think the likelihood is we won't have very many more."

Carter also said in an interview that "I don't know of any nation" which disagrees with his goal of total and orderly nuclear disarmament.

The President said that the United States has "instituted a very strong program based on two simple principles: one is an adequate supply of nuclear fuel to be used for the production of power; the other one... is strict control over nuclear wastes and the enriched uranium inventory to prevent a transfer into explosives."

Carter said he has received some Soviet and Chinese backing for his goals of stopping the spread of nuclear weapons and, ultimately, eliminating them entirely. But he also said he hopes for even more cooperation from the two Communist giants.

He said the Soviet Union "has been very forthcoming so far" in support of proposals to control the use and development of nuclear fuels, tools and knowhow.

He said he was disappointed by Moscow's rejection of a proposal for "a drastic reduction in atomic weapons," but added, "It is still a very real goal for my administration."

Carter said the Chinese leaders shared his goal of total nuclear disarmament. He said he had discussed Peking's views with Ambassador Huang Chen, chief of China's liaison mission in Washington.

The Chinese, Carter said, have a three-part approach to the issue: first, a world summit to discuss the subject; second, a pledge by nuclear nations against first-use of their weapons; and third, the total elimination of nuclear weapons.

"I think it is a good idea, a good approach," he said. "The first step obviously is to derive some agreement between ourselves and the Soviet Union." Carter said other nations "would be influenced heavily by what we do. We are prepared today to stop all testing of nuclear devices, both weapons and peaceful nuclear devices, if the Soviets will agree."

"I think we together are making some good progress on that subject. I think we will have a move toward the constraint on testing. Whether it is absolute, I don't know, but we would be willing, for a limited period of time, to stop all testing, hoping that the other nuclear nations would join us after they see how well the prohibition works between us and the Soviet Union."

Discussing other aspects of nuclear policy in the Oval Office interview, Carter said:

—His administration has not foreclosed the hope or possibility of

Lack Of Hurricanes Mystifies Weathermen Along Southern U.S.

MIAMI (AP) — The summer months are normally stormy times for the Caribbean and regions of the south-western North Atlantic Ocean. But the absence of even a single tropical storm so far this season has forecasters at the National Hurricane Center wondering.

"It is a little unusual to not have any depressions or tropical systems this summer," forecaster Ray Biedinger said Monday. "So far nothing has happened."

A depression is a surface low-pressure system that can combine with ocean-warmed air to produce first a tropical storm, then a hurricane.

It becomes a tropical storm and is named when maximum sustained winds reach at least 39 miles per hour. It becomes a hurricane when the winds top 74 m.p.h.

The early part of last season was also quiet but had produced a tropical storm by this time. It became harmless Anna, the first of six 1976 hurricanes.

The Atlantic hurricane season starts June 1 and ends Dec. 1. Although the prime hurricane months are August, September and October, forecaster and hurricane expert Gilbert Clark said a tropical storm can kick up anytime. And he said one can rapidly become a hurricane.

"It's just a matter of waiting until things get warm enough," he said. "Warm ocean waters are part of the cause of hurricanes. Hurricanes are heat machines. They travel on heat."

Water temperatures usually need to rise a few degrees — up toward the mid-80s — before hurricanes develop.

Fewer Cattle For Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — A mid-year survey shows that farmers and ranchers are continuing to reduce cattle inventories because of sagging beef prices.

As of July 1, the Agriculture Department said Monday, there were an estimated 130.6 million cattle and calves on hand, a decline of 2 per cent from July 1, of last year when nearly 133.6 million were on hand.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said there were 52.3 million head of cows and heifers that have had calves on hand, compared with 53.9 million on July 1, 1976, a cutback of 3 per cent. That was also a 10 per cent reduction from almost 58 million head two years ago.

Officials said the July 1 inventory included 41.3 million beef cows, a reduction of 3 per cent from more than 42.8 million a year ago and 12 per cent fewer than the 46.9 million on hand July 1, 1975.

The report said the 1977 calf crop is expected to be 46.1 million, down 3 per cent from 47.4 million in 1976 and 9 per cent fewer than the record of 50.7 million in 1974.

Woman Freed Over Incident

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Diana Lee Stanley, 20, of Hazel Park, Mich., was released to the custody of her parents Monday after she pleaded no contest to disorderly conduct for attempting to disrobe during church services.

Witnesses said Miss Stanley took off her blouse during Sunday morning services at the First Presbyterian Church. Police said she started to remove her skirt when some women in the congregation restrained her.

The 30-day jail sentence was suspended on the condition she return home with her parents for counseling.

Police said she offered no reason for her actions.

He also said there "has never been an adequate worldwide inventory of uranium fuels." Carter added: "I think that a good estimate of demand will help. I think when we compare that with a fairly well-assured supply that we will have no shortage of uranium fuel in the next 15 or 20 years.

he said. Although water temperatures vary, they are now in the upper 70s to the low 80s.

"It's a 50-50 thing about hurricanes," said Joe Pelissier, another forecaster. "Some years we've had them by now, some years we haven't. The combination of subtle things that make up a hurricane just haven't come together this year."

Explosion Damages Pipeline

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — A blast from an explosive device of undetermined nature damaged the exterior of a section of the trans-Alaska pipeline, but the flow of oil was not affected, authorities said.

State Police Lt. George Pollitt said the blast, which damaged insulation around the outside of the line, occurred about 9 p.m. Monday about 17 miles north of Fairbanks. In that area the pipeline runs about one mile north of a cafe and five miles off a state highway.

Pollitt said FBI investigators and state police were on the scene. He said authorities had been notified by Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. "that an explosive device had been detonated near the pipeline..." He added that troopers at the scene "confirmed that some damage to the insulation had been done by what appeared to be a blast of some type."

Pollitt said troopers were bringing pieces of the debris back to Fairbanks for analysis.

An Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. official said there was no halt or slowdown in oil flow through the pipe following the explosion.

The leading edge of Prudhoe Bay oil now in the pipeline moved only two miles through the line Monday as crews worked out some bugs at Pump Station No. 9, according to Alyeska officials.

Pump 9 was brought on line early to make up for pumping capacity lost in an explosion that destroyed Pump 8 on July 8.

I think when we compare that with a fairly well-assured supply that we will have no shortage of uranium fuel in the next 15 or 20 years.

"At that time, of course, some form of advanced reactor technology will be necessary... I think we can be prepared to use it safely by then."

The President, who did graduate work in nuclear physics and, while in the Navy, worked on the development of atomic submarines, said he had never witnessed a nuclear test shot. He said that while in the Navy in the early 1950s "we went through months of indoctrination on the scope of anticipated damage" from a nuclear blast. "The very clear conclusion is that once an atomic device is exploded in an area, there is no practical way to minimize the damage."

Echoing a theme he sounded through the interview, Carter said: "I think that world opinion is on the side of restraining a nuclear explosive capacity among the nonnuclear nations. Although some nations have a reluctance to be restrained, I think world opinion is still a growing factor."

Deputies Check Four Thefts

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies are investigating four theft reports.

Marion DeLong, 2179 N. Court St., told officers that thieves broke into an outside shed at his home.

While ransacking the building, the thieves apparently uncovered a set of keys which unlocked DeLong's residence.

Once inside, they took prescription drugs totaling $800 from a shelf in the kitchen area.

Thieves took piano tuning equipment and an assortment of hand tools from a garage at the 7766 Stahl Road, Orient, home of Allan T. Evans.

Included in the tuning equipment was an electric strobe tuner valued at $320.

Thieves forced the bathroom window of the 13504 Route 56, Kingston, home of Jewel Terry.

Pills valued at $16.50, a bottle of wine, and a .22 caliber revolver valued at $50 were taken.

Sandy M. Layton, 14 Troy Road, Commercial Point, told deputies that thieves took a charge card from her wallet. The card is usable at a department store in Columbus.
